1/21.

Daily Mirror

ALL THE NEWS BY TELEGRAPH, PHOTOGRAPH, AND PARAGRAPH.

No. 186.

Registered at the G. P. O. as a Newspaper,

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 8, 1904.

One Halfpenny.

THE MAN OF THE MOMENT-RUSSIA'S HERO AT PORT ARTHUR.

Writing to a friend in St. Petersburg, General Stoessel, the Commander of Port Arthur, said: "I do not know if we shall ever see each other again. My own decision, orders or no orders, is, however, made. My life is given to Russia—whatever happens, I do not surrender. Port Arthur shall be my tomb."

BIRTHS:

ACKSON.—On the 4th inst., at 5, Cambalt-road, Putney Hill, the wife of Lieut. H. G. Jackson, R.N., H.M.S. Prince of Wales, of a daughter. EWELL.—On June 5, at 22, Park-man, Bons, Prince of Wales Froad, S.W., the wife of Arthur C. Jewell, of a

TROUGHTON.—On June 5, at 21, Campden-grove, Kensington, W., the wife of Aubrey Troughton, of a

MARRIAGES.

BECK.—HURLBUTT.—On June 4, at 81. Jude's Church, South Kensington, by the Rev. J. F. Reece, rector of Lisniworg, Ruthin, assisted by the Rev. Prebendary, Eardley-Wilmot, Dr. William Robert Beck, of Beau-muris, Anglesoa, to Ada Bertha, only daughter of Mrs. Holiman, of 1, Collingham-rood, S.W., and the late William Hurbutt, of Molyhead.

DEATHS.

BRIDPORT.—On June 4, at Royal Lodge, Windsor Great Park, Alexander Nelson, General Viscount Bridport, Duke of Bronds, G.C.B., agod 89. Willon-street, Lient-Colonel Charles Butler, of Ballycarron, late 94th Regiment, R.LP.

PERSONAL

A. B. C.—Name-place meet you.

8ADHE and Tom call G.P.O. for letter from home.

RECEIVED letters. Call at B. for letter.—NUTKIN.

ANIMALS.—For mother's sake, send news somel

ROSE.

SHALL be away for whole week or ten days. Look then for smoother conditions TS."-Meet here Wednesday, 3 o'clock, sign post seat, r needed help.-" OAK."

for needed help—" OAK."

ANNUAL RECHISTER—Wanted, volumes of the "Annual ANNUAL RECHISTER—BOX 1361, "Bully Mirror." 2, Carnelltest, E.C.

FIVE Founds, Reward—Lot, on Sunday morning last, between 11:40 and 1.30, when petting into carriage at 42, the state of the sta

SHIPPING, TOURS, Etc.

WORWAY, SWEDEN, and RUSSIA.
WILSON LINE. First-class ROYAL MAIL and FASSENGER STEAMERS.
Saloons and Sleeping Accommodation amidships.
BEPGIAL HOLIAAY TOURS from LONDON and HULL,
10 days, 8) guineas; 17 days, 210 15s.
Apply to THOS. WILSON, SONS, and Co., Ltd., Bull; Gellatiy and Co., 51, Pall Mail; Cobe's, Ladgate-circus; or Bett and Co., 1, East Indicavenues EC.

AMUSEMENTS.

HAYMARKET, LADY FLIET. TO-DAY at 3 and 9. The state of th

ST. JAMES'S. Mr. GEORGE ALEXANDER Will appear TO-BAY at 3 and 9, in
"SATURDAY TO MONDAY (53nd and 53rd times),
By Frederick Fenn and Richard Pryce,
At 2.30 and 8.50 °D °C ME THUMB,
By Frederick Fenn and Richard Pryce
MATINEE "10 DAY and EVERY WEDNESDAY, 2.30.

THE OXFORD, — VESTA TILLEY.

YUKIO TANI, Clark and Hamilton, Ernest Shand
Vesta Victoria, Laurie's Juvenite, Joe O'Gorman, Nelson'i
Newtors, Gor. Brooks, and other stars. Open 7:30. Box
Bonniger, Mr. ALBERT GILMER.

Admission, 1s, Seaon Tickets, 10s, 6d.

TALIAN EXHIBITION, EARL'S COURT.
From 12 noon till 11,30 pm.

ITALIAN COMMERCIAL EXHIBITS.

ITALIAN COMMERCIAL EXHIBITS.

INDUSTRIAL WORKING EXHIBITS.

GRAND MILITARIALAN VILLAGE.

GRAND MILITARIALAN VILLAGE.

In the EMPRESS HALL, the Gigardic Representation of Wentley William Commercial Court of the Court of the

HEALD'S CHROMOSCOPY LECTURES
Drawing-room, 44, Holland-rd, Kensington, W.

FUESDAY, 3.15. "Magic Box." THURSDAY, 8 p.m. subject, "COLOURS OF JOSEPH CHAMBERLAIN."

"SALVATOR."

Representing Christ protecting the woman taken in
By HERMAN SALOMOTO of the Mysterious picturn of the Mysterious picturn Christian.

HANOVER GALLERY, 47, New Bond-street, W. Dally
10 to 6, 1s.

TO-DAY'S NEWS AT A GLANCE.

Our special weather forecast for to-day is: Gusty easterly to variable breezes; fair periods; cloudy at times, with local thunder-showers.

Lighting-up time: 9.14.

Sea passages will be moderate in the south and east; smooth in the Irish Channel.

Another severe fight has taken place in Tibet. The post at Khangwa, on our line of communications, was attacked by the enemy, who left over one hundred and sixty dead. Our losses were one killed and five injured.—(Prage 3.)

THE WAR.

On Monday the Japanese apparently made a determined advance on Port Arthur, and the movement was supported by Japanese warships. A naval battle is reported to have taken place off Port Arthur during Monday night, and it is believed that Russian squadron went out to prevent the panese warships co-operating with the land rees.—(Page 3.)

Relations are said to be strained between the Tsar and General. Kuropatkin, but the latter is supposed to have sent a force southwards, Rhuarn Admiral Alexeieff is now said to be directing the campaign. Mr. Lewis Etzel, war correspondent of the "Daily Telegraph," has been shot and killed by Chinese soldiers.—(Page 3.)

King Edward's royal visitor, the Archduke Frederick of Austria, will arrive in London this atternoon. He will be met at Victoria by out Prince of Wales, and will then drive to Bucking-ham Palace.—(Page 12.)

For the forthcoming river pageant at Eton it is now stated that the King will drive to the college from Slough and not from Windsor. The public will be able to view the pageant from Home Park, but the proceedings at Eton itself will be of semi-private character.—(Page 4.)

Princess Alexandra of Cumberland was married it Gmunden to the Grand Duke of Mecklenberg-schwerin in the presence of many royal personages.

Field-Marshal Sir Evelyn Wood, whose military career dates for over half a century, is to retire from the command of the Second Army Corps at an early date.—(Page 4.)

MARKETING BY POST.

WHY not buy good Bacon first-handed?—Edward Miles Bacon Factory, 47, Millest, Bristol, will send 40lb, but of this delicious to the delicious delicious delicious of bid bear bi, carriage paid anywhere.

as bgt. per lb.; extrage pild anywhere.

WILLAM HOWENS NEW DEPARTURES.

Open Mark Larrow Salon, Metropolita Railway (in Booking Hall). Tele. 1,008, Harrow. London prices. Families called upon daily for order, tion, Metrospiltan Railway. Available to public without tickets.

St. John's Wood line and Farringdon-street Station (Great Northern and Midland Platforms). Telegrams, "Any-thing London." Telephone 9. Paddington.

Mr. P. F. Warner, the Middlesex bat and cap-tain of the successful M.C.C. Australian team, was married at Marylebone Parish Church to Miss Agnes Blyth, in the presence of a fashionable con-gregation, which included many well-known cricketers.—(Page 3.)

The Alake of Abeckuta attended the reception organised by the African Society at the Clothworkers' Hall, and made his first speech on any civilised platform.—(Page 4.)

Damage to the extent of £100,000 was done by a fire at a warehouse in Manchester.—(Page 3.)

LAW AND CRIME.

When the action for malicious prosecution brought by Mr. Horace Laycock against a Mr. Bates was resumed, the latter was called and cross-examined respecting his experiences on the shootings let to him by the plaintiff, and which he alleges were "salted."—(Page 5.)

On the resumption of the action brought by the Hon. C. S. Rolls to recover £1,500, the price of a motor-car from Dr. Rutherfoord-Harris, M.P., the latter was called and detailed his reasons for refus-ing to accept the car.—(Page 5.)

A particularly sad story of a mother's struggles to maintain her two children was unfolded before Sir F. Jeune, who granted her a divorce on the ground of her husband's cruelty and gambling habits.—(Page 5.)

Tall scoring was a feature of the day's cricket. Playing against Somerset, Tyldesley made 210 runs. Centuries were also compiled by the Hon. F. S. Jackson and Messrs. Knight and Wood.—(Page 15.)

Great interest is being taken in the open golf championship commencing to-day at Sandwich, in which Harry Vardon, last year's winner, and Mr. W. J. Travis, the crack American player, are taking part.—(Page 12.)

It has been decided by the proprietors of the "Weekly Dispatch" to offer a trophy for the successful swimming of the English Channel. The special facilities to be given competitors include the payment of all training expenses.—(Page 12.)

This evening the seven-mile Stock Exchange walk is to be decided at Stamford Bridge, when sixteen competitors will face the starter. T. E. Hammond, who finished first in last year's contest, is a warm favourite.—[Page 4.]

HOUSES AND PROPERTIES.

MARKETING BY POST.

A - A DAINTY DRESS PARCEL for 30s.; a marrel of enterprise; 2s. 6d. deposit, balance la weekly, write and the control of £100 FOR AN OUTLAY OF £9 PRESENCE IN THE RANGE AND THE PROPERTY OF THE THIBURY DOCKS.—THURSDAY, June 16.

135 CAPITAL PLOTS, centre of town, surrounded by house; great demand for more; specially say terms of pay ment; particulars free.—Apply as below.

NEAR EASTGURDER AND LEYSDOWN.

WIEDER STRUCTURE AND LEYSDOWN.

Pine high sessor "HUROUT RESERVE."

PINE LEAD COMPANY, 68. Cheapside. The rail sickets.—THE LAND COMPANY, 68. Cheapside.

Houses, Offices, Etc., to Let.

DO You require a residence in London or suburbs?—I can find you one; no charge unless suited.—Letters, A. H., 33, Ampton-st, W.C.

A. H., 35, Amptonest, W.C.

Pingazine will be sent poot free, on application to those whe would like to know how to use their rent to buy their houses.—Write, mentioning this week, to 'The Editor, 'Remma'. 3, Rundheld-st, London, E.C.

SEVEN KINGS.—House to let; side entrance; search conservatory; near electric trams and station.—For particulars address of warr. 15, Milverton-parkens, Serve Rings, Exec.

NEW POTATOES, 10 lbs. for 2a.; cash with order—
POULTRY—H. PEAKE IS THE POWNER OF CHEADpoult of the power o Wimbelcoon. Maisonnette and Villas to Let or Sell on the company's casy purchase system; highly-flushed, company's casy purchase system; highly-flushed, company's casy purchase system; highly-flushed company's case of the company's case of the company's case most by case this circum adjusting; company's case most by case this circum adjusting; company's case most by case to station in a mins, handreds of trains application to Polytechnic Etate, Ltd., Merton Hall-rd. Wimbledon.

Land, Houses, Etc., for Sale.

CRANLEIGH (Surrey).—Freehold Bungalow Cottage; nine rooms, bath; nearly acre land; £425; charming neighbourhood; near rail; London, 39 miles; free deeds; instalments.—Homesteads (O), Ltd., 27, Essex-st, Strand, W.C.

FOR Sale, one or two substantially-built Villas in the most convenient suburb of Landou; within five minates that the substantially-built villas in the most convenient suburb of Landou; within five minates that the substantial substan

POR Sale, extract raffix w.

FOR Sale, extraction of the state of the state of district; 2 reception, 4 bedrooms, bath, etc.; thed halls and sculler; all modern improvements; roads paid for and taken over-Before deciding elsewhere call Mr. Bishop. Builder, Melfort-ed. 7 minutes from Thornton Heath Staten (Brighton Haliway).

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS.

BORD'S Pianos.—25 per cent, discount for cash, or cash, or cash, or cash, or cash, or cash grands from 25., upright grands, 178 dd, cottages, and conditions of the cash of th politha Ekalway, Available to public without tickets.

WILLIAM DOWRON'S

SPECIALITIES for THIS WEEK.

Finest Cornish Butter, is, ib; finest Lombardy Fresh Batter, 1s; Cornish Oream, ab, 3d, per quart; bare for dutto, 3s, 6d, per couple, iarre Fowle, 4s, 6d, and 5s, per couple. Carriago Daido.

Larriago Daido. PIANO by Boyd; walnut case; trichord; bargain for cash, 10 guineas; Terms arranged.—33, Calabria-rd, High

Other Small Advertisements appear on page 16.

Test and Try Before You Buy.

That's how H. Samuel does business. He has here in Manchester (his principal depot) and in 25 other principal cities, great storeand in 20 other principal cities, great store-houses of Watches, Clocke, Cutlery, Rings, Plate, etc., etc. Every article is sold on the distinct understanding that if it's not thoroughly pleasing, H. Samuel takes it back and refunds your money at once. He gives you a month to try before you buy.

An ordinary retail house would charge you bl- for what H. Samuel sells at 2/6. The quickest way to get a good look into his streets of tightly-filled establishments is to send a postcard to-day, and you will get, free, a book that will give you many pleasant surprises.

Send for it now!

H. SAMUEL, 83 Market Street. MANCHESTER.

BIRKBECK BANK

Current Accounts, 2 p.c. Interest allowed on minimum monthly balances when not drawn below £100.

Deposits, 2 p.c. Interest allowed on Deposit Accounts.

Advances made. Stocks and Shares beight and sold. Apply C. F. RAYESSCORT, Secretary, Southampton Buildings, High Holborn, W.C.

MASTERS' DIAMOND & RUBY RING (Hall-marked).

(Mail-marked).
WITH a Present if you send Cash, or send 2s, 6t. NOW, pay 2s, 6d, on receipt of RING, and 2s, 6d, fortulefity till 17s, 6d, is paid. For 32s, 18-ct. Ring send 4s, 6d, and 4s, 6d, etc. Old Gold articles taken in exchange for NEW RINGS. Send size of MASTERS, LTD., 15, Hope Stores, RYE, SUSSEX.

COMING TO GRIPS.

Port Arthur Attacked by Land and Sea.

GEN. STOESSEL'S ACTIVITY.

Squadron Sails Out To Give Battle.

On Monday the Japanese land forces are reported to have made a determined advance on Port Arthur, in which their warships were to cooperate. From a report of a naval battle off the port on Monday night, it is believed that a Russian squadron went out to give battle and prevent the Japanese warships from co-operating with the land forces.

News continues to come to hand indicating strained relations between the Tsar and General Kuropatkin, owing to the General's unwillingness to send a relief force to Port Arthur. It is asserted that he is sending a strong force southward, but Admiral Alexeieff is now said to be directing the campaign.

Japanese reinforcements are being sent to the front, and they expect to have an army of 200,000 men on the Liao-tung Peninsula by the end of this

Mr. Lewis Etzel, special correspondent of the "Daily Telegraph," has been shot and killed by Chinese soldiers while in a junk with Mr. Erness Brindle, of the "Daily Mail." Fortunately, Mr. Brindle escaped injury.

JAPANESE ATTACK.

Russians Reply by Sending Out the Port Arthur Fleet.

Yesterday the Japanese apparently made a de-termined effort to advance on Port Arthur by land. Firing was heard north of Port Arthur from seven Fitting was neard north of Port Arthur from seven in the morning until two in the afternoon.

It would appear that the Japanese had planned a land and sea attack on Port Arthur yesterday, and that the Russians, seeing this, sent a squadron out to give battle and to prevent the Japanese ships from co-operating with the land force.—Reuter's

NAVAL ACTION REPORTED.

Following upon this news comes from Chifu that a naval battle-was fought on Monday night in the Gulf of Pe-chi-li.

Steamers passing the Liaoti-shan Promontory at the time heard-ining, and heavy firing was heard from eleven o'clock last night until two o'clock yesterday morning.—Reuter's Special:

THE TSAR'S REQUEST.

The Tsar is said to have asked General Kuropat-kin whether he could send troops to relieve Port Arthur, and the General replied that it was im-possible.

ALEXEIEFF IN COMMAND.

ALEXBIEFF IN COMMAND.

It is now asserted from St. Petersburg that General Kuropatkin is sending a strong force southward. Subsequent to the refusal of the Commander-in-Chief to succour Port Arthur, the Tsar is reported to have sent him a formal order to detach a portion of his army to relieve the place. Relations are believed to be strained between General Kuropatkin and his Majesty.

Public opinion regrets dissensions which divide Admiral Alexeieff and the Commander-in-Chief. The former is now said to be directing the campaign.—Reuter.

"IT IS DONE."

Following upon this is a message from the Russian capital which says that the Tsar has received from General Kuropatkin a message containing one word, "Spielano," which signifies "It is done."

NODZU TO BAR THE WAY.

From Yokohama it is stated that a third Japanese army, under the command of General Nodzu, is en route to bar the way to the Russian troops which are moving southwards.—Reuter.

WIRELESS MESSAGES TAPPED.

The Japanese have intercepted a wireless message from Port Arthur which indicates that the garrison intends to act simultaneously with General Kuropatkin in the Liao-tung Peninsula.

Another entire division is, therefore, to be sent from Tokio, and by the end of the week Japan expects to have an army of 200,000 men ready for any emergency.

KILLED ON DUTY.

War Correspondent Shot by Chinese Soldiers.

Another victim has been added to the growing list of war correspondents who have lost their lives or been seriously wounded in the exercise of their dangerous profession.

From Shan-hai-kwan a Reuter telegram has been received stating that Mr. Lewis Etzel, special cor-respondent of the "Daily Telegraph," and Mr. respondent of the "Daily Telegraph," and Mr. Ernest Brindle, special correspondent of the "Daily Mail," were fired on by Chinese soldiers while in a junk between Shantaitze and Erdiko. Mr. Etzel was killed.

The two correspondents were at Newchwang on Friday investigating the movements of banditis. Mr. Etzel was an American, being a native of Butler, Pennsylvania.

A telegram has been received announcing that Mr. Brindle is safe.
Shantaitze, or Tien-chwang-tai, is a small fortified town on the right bank of the Liao River, on which Newchwang is situated, and is about twenty fied town on the right bank of the Liao River, on which Newhwang is situated, and is about themty miles north of Ying-kow, the port of Newchwang. It is presumed that Mr. Etzel and Mr. Brindle had determined to make a risky effort to ascend the Liao River, with a view to reaching a favourable spot for observing the war operations in the vicinity of Newchwang.

As previously mentioned, Mr. Etzel was an American, and was not on the regular staff of the "Daily Telegraph." He was a local journalist at Tientsin, and had been given a roaming commission for the "Telegraph," to which journal he had dispatched some remarkably smart messages.

OTHER WAR VICTIMS.

As showing the enormous risks that have to be encountered by war correspondents, it may be mentioned that during the Soudan campaign 69 per cent. of the war correspondents came to an untimely end. Three were killed and four wounded in the Servian campaign 61 1876, and Mr. Bennet Burleigh was the only survivor of three correspondents who went into the battle of Abu Klea.

Klea.

Among other correspondents who have been wounded in war are Mr. Frederick Villiers, Mr. Melton Prior, Mr. Charles Hands and Mr. E. Candler, both of the "Daily Mail," while Mr. G. W. Steevens, of the same paper, died during the siege of Ladysmith.

Mr. Julian Ralph, also of the "Daily Mail," died from the hardships of the South African campaign, and Mr. Howard was killed at Omdurman while acting for the "Times."

QUEEN'S NIECE MARRIED.

Princess Alexandra of Cumberland Weds a German Prince.

Princess Alexandra of Cumberland was yester-day married at Gmunden to the Grand Duke of Mecklenburg-Schwerin in the presence of many royal and princely personages. The bride brings youth, beauty, and riches as her wedding dower. From her mother, the sister of Queen Alexandra. Princess Alexandra inherits the regal grace which is so characteristic of the Danish royal ladies. The Grand Duke had a long minority, and only came of age and took up the reins of Government in 1901. The handsome son of a handsome mother, he looked a fitting match for the pretty Princess.

THE KING'S LEVEE.

The final Levée of the season was held by the King at noon yesterday, at St. James's Palace. His Majesty drove in state from Buckingham Palace, accompanied by Prince John of Glücks-burg, and attended by the Duke of Portland and a full suite. An escort was furnished by the 2nd full suite. An escort was furnished by the 2nd Life Guards. The Prince of Wales, with full suite and an escort, drove from Marlborough House, reaching the Palace by the Garden entrance, through which the Duke of Connaught and Prince Arthur walked from Clarence House, very large attendance.

LOST CUP NOT AT WINDSOR.

The statement that the Cape May Yachting Cup, which is missing, is being searched for at Windsor Castle is denied.

Castle is denied.

There could not be any necessity for such a search, our Windsor correspondent states, as every article and piece of furniture in the Castle is entered in a book kept for the purpose.

A clerk, who is also a photographer, makes an entry of every article, photographs of which in many cases are also pasted in the book, with the description attached.

STEEPLEJACK FALLS 140 FEET.

Last evening, at the Frodingham Iron and Steel Company's Works, a German steeplejack, named Frederick Greiner, fell from a height of 140 feet, and died shortly after being picked up. Deceased and another man were employed in pointing a crack in a new chimney when the accident happened. He was thirty-five years of age, and a native of Frankfort-on-Maine, but came from West Croydon to Frodingham.

CRAFTY TIBETANS.

Another Night Attack on a British Post.

There has been another severe fight in Tibet. The post at Khangwa, on the British line of com-munications, was attacked, and the British garrion lost one Gurkha killed and five wounded. The enemy, says Reuter, left 164 dead near the post, and further losses were inflicted on them as they retreated.

In a later message Reuter's correspondent at

In a later message Reuter's correspondent at Gyantgse says the attack was made on the 2nd

"Large bands of Tibetans came out of the fort, took up a position surrounding the camp, and began fring furiously. The garrison sprang to arms, but strict orders were issued not to fire unless the Tibetans attempted to rush the camp.
"Our silence apparently alarmed and puzzled the enemy, for after a while the bands retired to the fort, except about fifty men, who crawled to within a hundred yards of our night outpost.
"The Sikhs poured a few volleys into them, and they then bolted. Four dead were found in the morning. During the last two days the fire from the fort has been more vehement than usual. Apparently more rifles have arrived.
"Many convoys with provisions have been seen entering the fort, also a large number of armed Large bands of Tibetans came out of the fort,

entering the fort, also a large number of armed

ONLY KNOWS HIS MOTHER.

All Other Memory of Probert's Past Life a Blank.

Charles Probert, whose dramatic return home after twelve days' mysterious absence was recorded in yesterday's Mirror, is still unable to see visitors. With the exception of events that have happened since he was recognised in Manchester, on Saturday night, the unfortunate man's mind is a complete blank. All memory of his past life has been wiped out, and yesterday he presented the curious phenomenon of a full-grown man with recollections extending only over three days.

Two things only there are left to him of the wreck caused by the strange lapse of memory from which he is suffering; one is a complete recognition of his mother, the other the faculty of reading. All else is gone.

"WHAT DID I DO?"

"Have I been on the stage?" he asked when an attempt was made to remind him that under the name of Charles Conway he had entertained the public at Maskelyne and Cooke's and elsewhere. "What did I do?"

Some of the costumes he had worn were shown him, and he looked at them listlessly, but they awakened no spark of memory.

The daughter of Mr. Parkinson, a friend of many years' standing, who is now to him only as an acquaintance of two days, is a little girl of whom Mr. Probert used to be very fond. She was alwaysh his pet; but now, much to the child's grief, he pays no attention to her, and all her pathetic little efforts to revive his memory of her are fruitless. His aunt, too, fails to arouse his interest. He has completely forgotten her, as he has forgotten his work, his friends, and everything connected with his past life.

his friends, and everynning community possible.

The doctor who is attending him—Dr. Weyborn, of 284, Camden-road—says that his only hope of recovery is perfect rest and freedom from excitement. Strangely enough, this doctor has had an experience of a case somewhat similar, where loss of memory and identity has lasted over a period of five years.

DUCAL PLATE.

Nearly 10,000 ounces of silver and silver gilt plate changed hands yesterday, when the sale of the late Duke of Cambridge's property was resumed at Christie's, and several thousand pounds more than Christie's, and several thousand pounds more than was expected was realised. Although there was not the same excitement as on Monday, the auction room was crowded, and high prices were the order of the day.

A small table bell in silver gilt fetched 60s. per ounce. A beautiful fiddle-pattern table service realised £80; and a magnificent pair of table centres, 73in. long, were sold after spirited bidding for 4403.

for £165.

The silver-gilt plate given to the late Duke by Napoleon III. was one of the most interesting features of the sale, and an oval-soup tureen presented in 1801 by the town of Hanover was also eagerly sought after.

FOUR LIVES LOST AT SEA

Mr. A. H. Hutchins, of Cardiff, has received a telegram stating that the s.s. Kate B. Jones, or Cardiff, while on a passage from Swansea to Catania collided with the s.s. Froemin, of Glasgow, and put into Lisbon considerably damaged.

According to the telegram, Captain Pearn's wife, her companion, a Miss Yates, of Cheshire, the steward, and the cook, were drowned. No further particulars have been received.

Captain Pearn is a Cardiff man, but the steward, R. Furze, and the cook, T. W. Leng, were not local men.

MR. WARNER'S PARTNER.

The Popular Cricketer Married at Marylebone Church.

Marylebone Parish Church was crowded with a notable gathering of cricketers yesterday after-

The occasion was the marriage of Mr. P. F. Warner, the Middlesex bat, who captained the M.C.C. team in Australia, to Miss Agnes Blyth, daughter of the late Mr. Henry Blyth, of the firm of Messrs. Gilbey.

There were 700 guests, including Lord Alverstone, Lord and Lady Roberts, Sir Henry Irving, the Countess of Egmont, Mr. Henniker Heaton, M.P., Sir George Newnes, Sir John Brunner, and many well-known people. But it was the number many weir-known people. But it was the number of cricketers present that gave the assembly its especial distinctiveness.

The Gentlemen of England match against the I Zingari, at Lord's, was suspended from lunchtime until four o'clock, and all the players made a quick change from flannels to frock-coats to be present.

LORD HAWKE, BEST MAN.

LORD HAWKE, BEST MAN.

Lord Hawke, the captain of the Yorkshire C.C., was best man, and among cricket notabilities present were Lord Harris, B. J. T. Bosanquet, J. Douglas, Bromley-Davenport, Norman Druse, and Gregor MacGregor.

The bride, who was escorted by her uncle, Sir James Blyth, wore white chiffon embroidered with silver roses, over a white satin foundation. The veil was tulle over a wreath of orange blossom.

There were nine bridesmaids, in blue. The service, which was entirely choral, was conducted by Dr. Welldon.

When the newly-married couple reached the church porch they received a tremendous ovation from the thousands gathered outside. It was with some difficulty they reached their carriage, as the crowd was entirely beyond the control of the few police present.

At the commencement of the ceremony the church was rushed by the mob, who made a great

Rew. police present.

At the commencement of the ceremony the church was rushed by the mob, who made a great noise rushing up the staircases leading to the galleries; and greatly disturbed those present.

The bridegroom gave his bride a pair of diamond ear-rings and an ostrich fan, and each bridesmaid a, gold bat with the M.C.C. colours in enamel and the recipient's initials in diamonds.

A reception was afterwards held by Mrs. Henry Blyth at Portland-place.

The honeymoon will be spent at Holly Lodge, Cookham, the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Gold.

STAGE REALISM.

Did Mrs. Alfred Lyttelton Get Her Scenes from Life?

In "Warp and Woof," Mrs. Alfred Lyttelton's play, which on Monday night attracted all fashionable London to Camden Town, the talented authoress represented a dressmaker, Madame Stefanie, as a tyrant who kept her seamstress working all through night and day with slight intervals of sleep on the floor.

"Can such things be?" asked a Mirror representative of a lady factory inspector yesterday. "Is the Factory Act so much a dead-letter that West End dressmakers are responsible for a state of things ten times worse than was portrayed by Tom Hood in his 'Song of the Shirt'?

Tom Hood in his 'Song of the Shirt'?'

"Mrs. Lyttelton," replied the factory inspector,
'has not depended on facts for her situations.
Certainly she cannot have made any personal inrestigations into the conditions under which work is done at West End dressmakers. She may have been misled by someone from whom she sought information, or she may have been, very regretably, I think, led into representing things as they are not by a desire to create a sensational situation in her play.

"If Mrs. Lyttelton really knows of a dressmaker who conducts her business as Madame Stefanie is represented as doing her duty is clearly to denounce this dressmaker, and make her pay the full and heavy penalties set down in the Factory Acts."

£100,000 FIRE IN MANCHESTER.

#100,000 FIRE IN MANCHESTER.

The centre of a colony of cotton printers and manufacturers in Manchester was the scene of a disastrous fire yesterday. The premises attacked were those of Messrs. Daniel Lee and Co., an old-established and wealthy firm, and comprised a building of six storeys containing huge stocks of highly-inflammable goods.

Despite the vigorous work of the firemen, the flames held the mastery from start to finish, spreading rapidly from floor to floor, until the roof collapsed only half an hour from the commencement of the outbreak.

Volumes of water soaked the red velveteens stored in the building, and the streams ran like torrents of blood down the streets. Nothing was saved but the firm's private room, from which the firemen, at immense risk, rescued all the valuable papers.

The total damage is estimated at £100,000.

ALAKE THE ORATOR.

African Monarch's Rousing Speech in the Clothworkers' Hall.

AMAZING GESTURES.

The Alake of Abeokuta made his first speech on any civilised platform yesterday afternoon in Mincing-lane, where he was the guest of the African Society, at their reception in the Cloth-

As he drove up to the entrance in state, with Prince Edun and Prince Adeomaya, the Alake

Prince Edun and Prince Adeomaya, the Alake beamed with his expansive African smile on the crowd of produce brokers. The office-boys' hearts were full of joy. It was like a page out of a half-penny adventure story.

The Alake was as gorgeous as ever. He wore a new quilted cap of magnificent native work, and a "kimono" of dark red, embroidered richly in gold, and lined with soft mauve-timed silk. On his fingers were great silver rings, and he still had a thumbstall on. His legs were wrapped in gaily-coloured trousers, Abeokutan fashion, and the whole man ended rather grotesquely in patent-leather boots.

Corpulent Dignity.

As he came into the hall, in which there was not even standing room, everyone rose to greet him. He was much impressed, and sat down with cor-pulent dignity, -is broad face glittering with good humour.

humour.

Sir H. H. Johnston, as chairman, took the seat of honour. Meanwhile, down on the floor between his patent-leathered feet the Alake had placed what was at first taken to be his septre, but turned out to be his royal fly-whisk.

After some preliminaries, the Alake, without a sign of nervousness, rose to deliver his first platform speech to an audience of white men. It was one of the most remarkable spectacles the ancient hall of a City guild has ever seen.

Guttural Noises

Guttural Noises.

The Alake advanced a pace or two towards the front of the platform and emitted a series of extraordinary guttural noises, interspersed with the expressive greatures which form an integral part of the Yoruba language.

Indeed, the Alake would make a fortune in pantomine. The way he held out his arms, stretched them to their utmost limit, and folded them full on his chest as though embracing something or some-body, the whole to the accompaniment of the most fascinating smile in his repertoire, made the ladies in the front feel quite measy.

Order was restored and misapprehension removed when Mr. Edun, his ebony Prime Minister, rose to translate in his beautiful English.

Remembered Queen Victoria.

Remembered Queen Victoria.

Remembered, Queen Victoria.

The Alake had been saying how touched he was by the reception he had received at all hands in England. Ever since his arrival the best and noblest had been trying to do their best for him. He had seen the great ruler of England, the King himself. He remembered that the King's mother, Queen Victoria, had given his late father a Bible as a symbol of England's greatness.

Vesterday he had dined with Sir Thomas Fowell Burton, whose nane was sacred in the annals of his country; indeed, the names of Wilberforce, Buxton, and others, were sacred to every negro. All he had to say about cotton would be said when he got to Manchester.

Mr. Eden's rendering of the speech was deficient in one particular. The Alake had constantly made a noise which sounded like an imitation of a motorcycle.

The audience broke up with that problem in their minds.

"If the Alake wasn't talking about motors—well.
"Well, that's what a City man said who was there, but he confessed he knew English better than Youba.

Some specimens of cotton stuffs woven, by the Abeokutans were exhibited at the hall, and attracted considerable attention. An imitation of the Jacquard loom was wonderful, as was also the embroidery on the various garments.

The Abeokutans had been spinning and wearing cotton for centuries before the Manchester cotton industry was thought of. They were old hands at it when Raleigh was learning to smoke a pipe.

PRISONER IN HYSTERICS

There was a painful scene in Marlow Police Court yesterday when Isabella Jane Livingstone, a nurse, was again before the magistrates on a charge of setting fire to the isolation hospital—at rooker.

The accused woman, when conducted into court, touted hysterically and struggled with the female arder, exclaiming: "Oh, they are going to hange on Daw's Hilk. I see it burning. Oh, save em, save them! Merciful God, they are hang-

HERO OF ZULU WAR.

Sir Evelyn Wood to Retire After Half Century's Service.

Field-Marshal Sir Evelyn Wood will shortly retire from the command of the Second Army Corps, and a Mirror representative called at the War Office to hear the official version.

"There is nothing startling in the report," at officer said, "as it is only the natural sequence of

"Sir Evelyn Wood's command falls in this year

October, 1904, is the date, I believe.' Field-Marshal Sir Evelyn Wood was originally in the Navy, and went through the Crimea as midshipman, being twice recommended for the V.C., but the Army would appear to have been the strongest attraction, as he obtained a commission in the 13th Dragoons. He volunteered for the Indian Mutiny in 1858, and on that campaign was finally awarded the Victoria Cross.

In the Zulu war, he was the commander of one of the four columns dispatched against Cetewayo

After Isandiwana.

When the disastrous battle of Isandlwana was being fought, Colonel Wood was advancing on Ulundi, and heard the news of the Zulu success too late to relieve the British. His subsequent victory silenced the Zulus for four

His subsequent victory silenced the Zulus for four months.

"Evelyn Wood's face," wrote the late Archibald Forbes, "was radiant with the rapture of the fray as he rode up and down behind his regiment, exposed to the storm of bullets." Wolseley wrote to him: "You and Buller have been the bright spots in this miserable war."

On his return home Wood was knighted, and, as Sir Evelyn, fought through the ill-fated Boer war and assumed the command when Colley fell on that dark day at Majuba.

His unfortunate ailment, deafness, prevented him taking part in the last South African war.
Field-Marshal Sir Evelyn Wood has done more than any other living man, according to Lord Wolseley, to "modernise" the Army. He was made Field-Marshal by King Edward in September, 1901.

PRODIGY OF THE "FORTIES."

Camille Saint-Saens Appears in London To-day.

To-day Camille Saint-Saens, the veteran French composer, visits London again, and appears to-night at the great Lifeboat Concert at Queen's

It is hard to realise that in the "forties" of the last century he was appearing as a "prodigy pianist, and that now, at seventy years of age, he to-day will play his "African" fantasia for piano forte and orchestra at Queen's Hall, and that next week will see his new opera produced at Covent Garden.

There is a good story told of Saint-Saens's first meeting with Wagner.

He was sent to the house of the "master" with a letter of introduction from a mutual friend.

The young musician was shown into an antercom, where stood a piano, upon which lay a part of the MS, score of one of Wagner's operas. Saint-Saens sat down and began to play the music on the piano, and so masterly was his rendering that Wagner, who was in an adjoining room, rushed in and embraced him.

As for Saint-Saens masterly compositions, perhaps his most popular work in his own country is his opera "Samson et Della".

Saint-Saens spends a good deal of his time in Paris, but he has for many years made a mysterious disappearance every winter for some aix months. Where he goes to nobody knows, although people claim to have come across him in the East, in Egypt, Syria, and even farther afield still.

A portrait of M. Camille Saint-Saëns appears on

OUR EXPORT TRADE DECREASES.

The Board of Trade returns issued yesterday show that British exports for May totalled £24,332,089, as against £24,327,026 in May last year. The imports were of the value of £44,780,098, compared with £41,915,106 in May, 1903. For the free months ended May 31 last British imports amounted to £223,775,107, as compared with £219,269,527 in the corresponding period last year, or an increase of £9,514,590. In the same period this year British exports totalled £129,046,897, as against £120,250,665, showing a decrease of £203,763.

William Westall, a post office sorter, went out for a walk last Friday week, and six days later his body was: found in a pond on Wimbledon Common. At the inquest yesterday, when an open variet was returned, it was stated he suffered from fits.

ROYAL RIVER TRIP.

The King's Visit to Eton and Hammond Favourite for To-night's Return by Water.

The King and Queen will, it is expected, alight at Slough Station on Monday next and drive thence to Eton College for the pageant on the river, and not travel to Windsor and drive from the Castle, as was first arranged.

Their Majesties will be received at Eton at about half-past four by the Provost and Head, Mr. Hornby, and will inspect the guard of honour of the school Volunteers drawn up in the Quadrangle Addresses will be presented, and after going through some of the school buildings their Majesties will have tea with the Provost.

Majesties will have tea with the Provost.

The King and Queen will watch the procession of Eton boats from Fellows' Garden and then embark on the state barge, which will be escorted down the river to Datchet Reach by the flotilla of Eton boats, the boys being dressed in their quaint Fourth of June costumes.

Thousands of the public will be able to view the pageant from the Home Park. At the college, however, the proceedings will be semi-private, and the boys have been informed that no accommodation can be provided for their friends in the schoolyards.

The day will be wound up with a grand display of fireworks.

MODEST "DR." DOWIE.

Will Qnly Address His Disciples in London This Time.

"Dr." Dowie, General Overseer of the Chris tian Catholic Church in Zion, self-styled Elijah the Restorer, arrives in London from the Continent or

The General Overseer evidently has painful :eollections of the attentions he received from London medical students on the occasion of his last

During his coming visit he will only address meetings of his faithful disciples, and elaborate precautions will be taken against disturbances. Two meetings will be held on Sunday next in the Zion Tabernacle, Euston-road, and two co

Monday.

The Rev. H. E. Cantel, Evangelist in charge, said yesterday, to a Mirror representative: "Neither the Press, who are our avowed enemies, nor the public, will be admitted to these meetings. Admission to the meetings will be by ticket only. "The General Overseer will remain in England but a few days, when he will sail for New York. Great preparations, I may say, have been made for his return to Zion City."

A SWEET VIOLA.

Miss Viola Tree Makes Her Debut at His Majesty's in Twelfth Night.

ing to Mr. Tree's little speech at the end of the Fresh Air Fund performance of "Twelfth Night," e made happy "by your presence here to-da Seldom has charity been created after a fashion more altogether charming. No one in the theatre. save Mr. Tree and his generous company and staff save Mr. Tree and his generous company and start, who had one and all given their services, had done anything except enjoy themselves to the full.

To say that this was Miss Viola Tree's actual debut is perhaps a little beyond the truth. Upon the same stage, where bouquets were showered upon her yesterday after, her performance in "Twelfth Night," she has already danced before an audience that included no less important a critic than his Majesty the King. That, however, was a year or two no.

than his stagesty the arrows.

Her voice is her mother's. It is a beautiful voice, better as yet in singing than in speaking. It is just a trifle apt to be plaintive in a long

It is just a trifle apt to be plaintive in a long speech.

But to hear her sing "Come away death!" in the discoursing of which Ylola now replaces the Clown, is to hear "melodious breath" that might well have reminded the love-lorn Orsino, of his "sweet south" and his "bank of violets."

For the rest, she is completely competent. Mr. and Mrs. Tree have seen to that. One could hear her every word; yet she never shouted, never ranted, never seemed, in fact, but the perfection of maidenly modesty and pretty humour. And in that last quality one recognises an inheritance from Mr. Tree that will equip a very precious actress in the time to come.

STUDENTS KILLED ON THE ALPS.

INNSBRUCK, Tuesday.

A student of chemistry named Paul Thorvart, of Munich, while making an ascent of the Dreithorspitze, a peak about 8,700 feet high, fell over a precipice, and was killed.

Another Alpine Islahiy is reported from Gratz, where a student was killed by a fail on the Pfaffenksgel, near Stuebing.—Reuter.

WALKING IN A RING.

Stock Exchange Contest.

MR. H. N. DUKE'S OPINION.

For the seven miles Stock Exchange walk around the track at Stamford Bridge, at six this evening, sixteen are expected to start.

These include T. E. Hammond (who finished first in last year's race), H. N. Duke (3rd), A. Hare Duke (4th), S. E. Knight (5th), J. T. Jull first in last year's racely, H. N. Duke (3rd), A. Hare Duke (4th), S. E. Knight (5th), J. T. Jull (6th), W. A. Fry, Francis Fry, Contad Nickalls, jun., and A. R. Williamson.

A noticeable absentee is P. J. Bellingham, who last year finished second.

There will be a sealed handicap in connection with the race.

On 'Change Hammond is a hot favourite—"7 to 4 on him is being freely laid," said Mr. H. N. Duke to a Mirror representative yesterday. "He is absolutely certain to win "For second place there should be a great fight. Personally, I am inclined to think it rests between Hare Duke—who, by the way, is no relation to meand myself. The betting, however, favours Jull. It is 7 to 2 against him, 6 to I against Hare Duke, and 7 to I against myself.

"The only possible 'dark horse' is S. E. Knight, who last year finished fifth. He is a 12 to 1 chance, and might do better than people expect.

"Hammond and Jull have been training at Stamford Bridge. Hammond is walking better than ever. What little training I have needed has been done there, too. Hare Duke and Knight have been working at Herne Hill.

"The affair will probably be an annual one. The only thing likely to upset this is the possibility of the L.A.C. having to leave Stamford Bridge on Jime 24. The Fulham Football Chab are negotiating for the ground. If they get it, the L.A.C. will probably go to Barnes.

"We hope to arrange a walk in the autumn at the Crystal Palace with the Blackheath Harriers and the Surrey Walking Club to enable Hammond to break the fifty miles' record. He, of course, beat it easily in the recent Brighton walk, but it was not accurately measured."

Portraits of T. Hammond and H. N. Duke appear on page 8.

WILL HINK HITT US 2

WILL JUNE JILT US?

Weather Expert Doubtful of the Early Summer Warmth.

Has that rare and shy bird, the English summer, ally revisited these shores? June, 1904, in spite of the dripping indiscretion of Derby Day, seems to promise as much.

The succession of bright warm days that has ollowed that downpour has favoured the growth of notable crop of bizarre straw hats in the Strand; nd a more serious portent may be found in the fact that two deaths due to the heat were vesterday reported in London.

There is something ominous, however, about this There is something ominous, however, about this fair promise, according to a weather expert who was yesterday consulted by a Mirror representative.

Nearly all the coldest and wettest summers of recent years, he said, have been ushered in by a June that showed a rainfull below the average and a high proportion of sumy days.

On the other hand, several of the finest summers during the last quarter of a century followed upon dull, cold Junes.

"IT wanted a real summer, I should prefer to see cooler or duller weather," he concluded, shaking his head pessimistically over a recorded temperature of 76 degrees.

WILL ENGLAND DRINK LESS TEA?

Referring to the tea duty, Mr. Lough, presiding at the meeting of the Tower Tea Company, said in addition to the 8d, per 1b., 5s. had to paid to the Government on every £100 of duty by the trade as a contribution towards the cost of taxing it. That arthaic arrangement was quite contrary to the spirit of modern legislation.

It appeared clear from what had taken place since 1900, when the duty was raised to 6d. per 1b., that the consumption of tea throughout the country would be checked by the higher prices. In 1901 the consumption per head of the population was 6.13, and in 1903 it had fallen to 6.03.

TWENTY-TWO MINERS SHOT.

COLORADO, Monday.

While the secretary of the Mine Owners' Society was addressing an outdoor mass meeting this afternoon on the subject of the dynamite outrage at Independence Station; rioting broke out, and one man was shot dead, while six were wounded. The milital captured the hall from which the urion miners fred on them, and seven of the miners were shot: The total death list of the day in the Cripplecreek district is estimated at twenty-two. One hundred union miners were arrested this evening.

THE FATE OF A RABBIT.

Amusing Cross-examination of a Disappointed Sportsman.

It was Mr. Bates's turn yesterday to give to Mr. Justice Lawrance and a special jury his version of the unfortunate dispute that has arisen between himself and Mr. Horace Laycock, of Tulse Hill, re the status of the "Cade-street Farm Estate," near Heathfield, in Sussex, as a pheasant preserve

Mr. Laycock, it will be remembered, is suing Mr. Bates for malicious prosecution because the latter charged him at Croydon with fraudulently letting to him a "salted" shooting, viz., woods in which pheasants were released at opportune moments

Mr. Bates is hardly a typical looking sportsman, but the healthy appearance of his cheeks show that he is a lover of open-air exercise. He described—with his arms akimbo—his disappointment at coming across so few pheasants at Heathfield, and his disgust when he heard that those he did see were let fly by the pulling of a string.

"You have been a sportsman a good many years?" asked Mr. Duke quickly, as he rose to oss-examine.

Mr. Bates (frankly): Not many years.
Mr. Duke: What were you before you became sportsman?
Mr. Bates: An industrious business man. (Loud hter.) You know a rabbit when you see it?" pursued

Mr. Duke.

Mr. Bates replied that "if he didn't he ought to."
He had actually shot a rabbit at Cade-street Farm.
Mr. Duke: By accident? If so, it was a little hard on the individual rabbit.
Mr. Bates intimated that there were some other rabbits which ran away, and then Mr. Duke blandly remarked: "You don't expect to find the rabbits with their forefeet up sitting waiting for you?"

Mr. Bates (mournfully): I only had one shot. r. Duke: They were not fraudulent rabbits, they? You do not suggest that the rabbits been invited down for the day and had not had been invited down for the day and had not paid for it?

Mr. Bates, when the laughter that this question caused had subsided, respectfully submitted that Mr. Duke was wasting the time of the Court.

A little later he had again to administer a gentle reproof to Mr. Duke, who had asked him why he thought a certain question was put to him if there was no ground for it.

"Lawyers say some very funny things at times," he retorted.

The case was again adjourned.

DETECTIVE'S MISGIVINGS.

A Dinner at Plymouth with Mrs. Pollard's Solicitor.

During yesterday's hearing at Bow-street of the conspiracy charge against Slater, Osborn (who acted as Mrs. Pollard's solicitor), Henry (the manager of the inquiry agency), and three detectives, little additional evidence to that already given in the action by the King's Proctor in the Pollard divorce suit was forthcoming.

With reference to the Plymouth episodes,

Stephens, who was sent from Slater's to make inquiries in connection with the Pollard case, said quiries in connection with the Pollard case, said that after an interview with Osbora he remarked to Fracey, a fellow-detective, "He and the captain are playing up a bit too thick." The same evening Stephens dined with Osbora. The latter, he said, in speaking about the Pollard case, remarked; Stephens dined with Osbora. Stephens dined with Osbora. The latter, he said, in speaking about the Pollard to-day to get this. Stephens dined with the Pollard to-day to get the distribution of the pollar distribut them dry.

In cross-examination, the witness mentioned that his first connection with Slater's was through employing the latter in his own divorce case.

The hearing was once again adjourned.

PROMISE WHICH COST £25.

PROMISE WHICH COST £25.

Mr. Justice Walton, sitting in the High Court yesterday, heard an action claiming damages for breach of promise of marriage, the plaintiff being Miss Laura Elizabeth Smith, shop assistant, and an "infant," who sued through Henry Smith, residing at Pengeroad, Norwood, and the defendant Ernest William Martin, a plasterer, of Huntsmoor-road, East-hill, Wandsworth.

Miss' Smith said she became engaged to the defendant in October, 1901, be being then under age. He became of age on June 21, 1908, and shortly after plaintiff asked "if he really wanted to get married," and he replied, "Yes, I want to get married and get it over."

For the defence it was asserted that there never get maried and get it over."

For the defence it was asserted that there never was an absolute promise. Miss Smith denied this, and said the defendant borrowed money through her from her father to buy wine for the wedding.

His Lordship found for the plaintiff, whom he awarded 425 damages, and costs.

GAMBLER'S BROKEN-HEARTED WIFE.

Mother's Grim Struggle to Maintain Her Two Children in a London Slum.

A deserted mother's plucky struggle to save her children from want was the central fact of a pitiful Divorce Court story told before Sir Francis Jeune

With tears ready to start from her eyes, Mrs. Lulu Barbara Marian Morley, a refined and pretty woman, said that she was a gambler's wife, and asked the Court to release her from her husband

While the latter was living in Australia the life

While the latter was living in Australia the life of a man of pleasure, gambling and intriguing with other women, Mss. Motley was carrying on in London a bitter and unequal contest against want, fighting with hands not bred to work to support the little ones dependent on her.

Beginning her story when, from being a happy girl who only knew of want and wretchedness by hearsay, she became a luckless wife, Mrs. Morley described, how she was married at St. Mary Abbot's Church, Kensington, in 1893, and how immediately after the wedding she went with her husband and her husband's sister, Miss Amy Morley, to Western Australia.

From the very outset there was trouble, for, in order to be married and pay their passages out, her husband had used the money of this sister, for whom he was trustee.

Mr. Morley had gone to the Colony as a mining expert, and in Perth, where he settled down, he gathered round him a circle of what Mrs. Morley thought very undesirable acquaintances.

The Perth "Monte Carlo."

The Perth "Monte Carlo."

Her husband and his friends used her home for fambling, and so notorious was this fact that the louse came to be known as the Perth "Monte

She made several efforts to save him from his fellow-gambiers. One night she called him from the room where the gaming was going on.

"My husband was not like himself," she said as she hesistaingly described this incident. "He did not know what he was losing, although some of them did. When I spoke to him he got hold of the baby, and fell down on the floor with it." Mr. Morley made promises to amend, which he kept for a week. But at the end of that time there was another gaming, party, and when his wife once again tried to get him away from the card table he lost control of himself and struck her. At this period she was expecting again to be a mother in a short time, and so ill did she become that the doctor ordered her back to England. Her husband readily agreed to her going, so she started on the voyage, accompanied by her little baby daughter, Violet, and Miss Morley.

At Colombo her health broke down so completely that she had to leave the boat, and with her sister-in-law she found herself in a strange, foreign town with practically no means.

A Good Samarttan.

A Good Samaritan.

A Good Samaritan.

In this predicament she had to accept help from a friend—help that was afterwards made a pretext by her husband for a charge against her.

By the next boat a Mr. Cade reached Colombo from Fremantle. He was a man whom both she and her husband had known in Perth. Meeting Miss Morley and learning the unfortunate position of the ladies, he offered to see that they got safely back to England. This offer they could not but accept.

back to England. This offer they could not out accept.

And when they arrived in England, finding no money for them at the hotel to which Mr. Morley had promised to send a remittance, they were obliged to accept another kindness from Mr. Cade, who put his flat at their disposal until Mrs. Morley had got over the critical period of her confinement. Then Mrs. Morley's fight with poverty began. Both her little girl and her baby were delicate, and they did not thrive in the slum to which she was obliged to take them.

All she could do was to get them food by working as a waitress in a tea-shop in Bond-street at a wage of 12s. a week.

of 12s. a week.

In spite of her efforts—she became an actress in an attempt to earn more money—her baby died, because she could not take it to the country away from the slum.

After A Four Years' Struggle.

It was not until 1900, after a four years' struggle for existence, that she again heard from her hus-band. In 1896, at the time of her confinement, he had sent her some money, but after that had ignored her.

His letter was an invitation to return to Australia, and ran as follows:—

His letter was an invitation to return to Ausrelia, and ran as follows:—

My Dear Lu,—It seems very strange after all these years to be writing you again, but during these years of misery I have never ceased to think of the future of our little child. I did start with the idea of saving enough money to divorce you, but that leaves the child with a blot on her young life to start with, a blot which the majority of persons would take for a pretext in order to show their scorn and contempt for a girl who dares to be pretty, and I heat Violet promises to be lovely.

Now, Lulu, will you come out to me again and let us start afresh and see if we cannot make some assured future for our little one? This is the only way, and it is our duty to try it. Besides, to tell you the truth, I cannot think with calmness of you not belonging to me. I am managing director of a proposed collery of 1,200 acres near here, and am now in receipt of a salary of & a week. I tell you all this because it is my earnest wish that you should understand my position as well as I do myself.

The letter concluded by asking Mrs. Morley when the cannot that the context of the context we have the cannot the context of the cannot be a context of the cannot be a context of the cannot any well as I do myself.

The letter concluded by asking Mrs. Morley whether she would get together enough money to come

The Wife's Reply.

In reply Mrs. Morley wrote a letter in which she spoke her mind. Her husband spoke of their child, she said, but he had not asked how she had carned a living for herself and the little one.

The letter continued: —"Do you know what I and your sister have been through during these years of poverty and sickness, and of the heart-rending agony I suffered when I lost my second child—at a time when I was only earning 12s, a week as a waitress in a Bond-street tea-shop, and was unable to take her out of London, which might have saved her, as we lived in an unhealthy shun?

might have saved her, as we lived in an unhealthy slum?

Would this have been my position had I been living in a manner that could give you grounds to divorce me? From time to time people have got up subscriptions for us, just as they did in Melbourne after I married you.

"I have been at death's door once owing to privations and overwork on the stage, as there was only myself to keep our first child and your sister. I had to attend rehearsals all day on very little food, in wet boots, or in very thin ones, and then at night be at the theatre, and after it was over go to get my bus, unprotected, at midnight. "Afterwards a second letter came from Mr. Morley. He said that in his first letter had tried to crush all sentiment."

"I feel now," he went on, "that I have been an absolute blackguard. I do love you, and have always loved you and my kiddy. I see it is deeds you want and not words. I have heard from Amy, and believe that you have been true to your marriage vows since Cade went away."

As the charge against her was still repeated in these last words Mrs. Morley once more refused to rejoin her traducer.

Finally, it came to her knowledge that he had been repeatedly unfaithful to her in Perth. Accordingly she asked the Court to grant her a divorce.

After hearing some affidavits, Sir Francis Jeune

After hearing some affidavits, Sir Francis Jeune said he thought the case had been fully proved, and pronounced a decree nisi with the custody of little-Violet.

AMERICAN'S BORROWED MOTOR-CAR.

AMERICAN'S BORROWED MOTOR-CAR.

Before the Lord 'Chief Justice yesterday, the British Automobile Commercial Syndicate, Limited, sued Mr. R. McCreery, of Albemarlestreet, St. James's, to recover #285 for repairs to a 7-h.p. Panhard motor-car.

In August, 1901, the defendant borrowed the car from Lord Carnarvon, and went with it on the Continent. During the tour the car was injured, and on his return he sent it to plaintiffs for repair. When defects had been made good, and the car was being got ready for delivery, a workman upset a lamp into a petrol tank, thus causing a fire, which destroyed the body of the car. Defendant afterwards declined to pay, on the ground that he had received no benefit.

His Lordship held that the plaintiffs were entitled to recover. Judgment was entered accordingly.

Lady Henry Somerset announces that, owing to the many requests that the tableaux given at the Imperial Theatre should be repeated at popular prices, it has been decided to present them once more before the end of June.

IN MAHOMET'S POSITION.

M.P.'s Predicament Over a Motorcar Transaction.

Dr. Rutherfoord Harris, M.P., who is being sued by the Hon. Charles Rolls, son of Lord Llangattock, to recover £1,500, the price of a 20-h.p. Panhard, went into the witness-box in Mr. Justice Grantham's Court yesterday and explained how he refused to accept the motor-car when he found that it had not been constructed in accordance with his wishes

Mr. Rolls chaffed him, Dr. Harris said, about his 7-h.p. car, and eventually he accepted the former's offer to supply him with the Panhard.

He was advised to have an aluminium body. because wood, intermixed with the metal, had been the means of one motor being burnt in the course the means of one motor being burst in the course of his experience. Still, he did not think it worth while, when he knew that wood was used instead of aluminium, to say anything until a certain period. Then it was that he made his complaint and refused to accept delivery.

Mr. Montagu Lushp K.C.: Did you buy the car or not?—It was my intention. I bought it under certain conditions. It was part and parcel of my agreement to have a tonneau attachment.

What is now your position? Have you bought the car?—Well, I seem to be in the position of Mahomet when he was said to be between Heaven and earth. I don't know where I am at all until the end of this case.

Mr. Lush: You seem, however, to be in one of those places.

the end of this case.

Mr. Lush: You seem, however, to be in one of those places.

Dr. Harris: I know, but I am in possession of no motor-car, Mr. Lush.

The case was again adjourned.

WITHDRAWING A GIFT.

Curious Claim Against a Solicitor and His Sister.

Undue influence is alleged against a Kensington solicitor and his sister, who were defendants in a curious action heard in the Chancery Division

Miss Barbara Louisa St. John O'Reilly, who, according to her counsel, was a lady of limited mental capacity, went to live with Miss Maria Bonney and her brother, Mr. F. F. Bonney, a solicitor, of Warwick-gardens, Kensington. Gra-solicitor, of Warwick-gardens, Kensington. Gradually, it was alleged, her property passed into the hands of the two defendants.

Miss O'Reilly gave up her cheque-book, and signed any cheques submitted to her, while Miss Bonney, it was stated, allowed her only 5s. a month pocket-money.

Miss O'Reilly, her counsel explained, was born in 1853, and Miss Bonney took charge of her in 1876 in consideration of being paid £160 a-year. When Miss O'Reilly's father died in 1878 she became entitled to £7,804 in cash, and £8,649 in Consols.

Consols.

In 1881 Miss O'Reilly sent a letter to Miss Bonney which embodied a gift of "everything she had in the world, or what she might become possessed of." It was this gift she wished to set

In 1901 she left Miss Bonney, and a claim was nade on her behalf to certain property which Mr. and Miss Bonney declined to return. The hearing was not concluded.

ACTRESS'S DISTRESSING DEATH.

Bridget Doyle, an actress, professionally known as "Miss Jennings," who lived in a flat at Well-street, Marylebone, has died under sad circumstances.

She had of late been very intemperate in her habits, refusing to take kindly advice which was offered her. Taken suddenly ill, she died before a medical man could reach the house.

At the inquest held yesterday it was shown death was the result of heart failure accelerated by alcoholism. Verdict accordingly.

PICTURES PAINTED FOR THE PAWNSHOP.

An artist, who appeared in Westminster County Court yesterday, in answer to a judgment sum-mons, stated that the only way he had of getting money was by painting pictures and then pawning them.

He made an offer to paint pictures to clear off the debt providing the plaintiff would undertake to sell them, but this was not accepted.

Fels-Naptha

Boiling shrinks clothes, runs colors, turns white yellow, and injures the cloth.

No boiling with Fels-Naptha; go by the book.

Fels-Naptha 39 Wilson street London E C

SCENE AT A BARRISTER'S HOUSE. Engaged as butler to Mr. E. T. Baldwin, K.C.

Engaged as butler to Mr. E. T. Baldwin, K.C., William Simmons made an arrangement by which he was to visit his wife once a week at her home in Shepherd's Bush. Mrs. Simmons, it was said, was addicted to habits of intemperance, and as a result of her conduct she was summoned at Marylebone Police Court yesterday for using threatening language towards her husband. The latter stated the defendant had called at his master's house on more than one occasion and had created a disturbance by persistently ringing the bell. She was ordered away by Mr. Baldwin, her conduct causing a crowd to assemble.

to assemble.

The defendant admitted having been to the house, and pleaded in excuse that it was the result of a hasty temper.

The magistrate told her she must not offend again, and bound her over to be of good behaviour.

As a result of complaints that Parkhurst rifle range is dangerous to the public, the range has been closed until further orders. An official inquiry is to be held immediately.

MUCH NEWS IN FEW WORDS.

The granite receptacle for Mr. Herbert Spencer's ashes has been placed in Highgate Cemetery as near the tomb of George Eliot as possible.

Mr. Charles Underwood, aged eighty-two, a soli-citor, living in Chester-square, fell downstairs in his house and fractured his skull. A verdict of Acci-dental Death was returned yesterday.

The Bishop of Liverpool has received a communi-cation from Lord Derby announcing that the King and Queen would arrive in Liverpool on July 19 to lay the foundation stone of the cathedral.

Official returns of the traffic on the London County Council tramway system for the week ended May 28 show the total receipts as £13,259, an increase of £2,180 on the corresponding week of last year.

DREAM FORETOLD HIS DEATH.

A miner named Joseph Hartopp was electrocuted in a colliery at Nuneaton by coming into contact with part of the electrical haulage plant. Just before the fatality Hartopp told some fellow-workmen that in his sleep on Sunday night he dreamt that death would soon overtake him in the JOURNALIST DISGUISED AS TRAMP.

A Wolverhampton journalist, in search of "copy," got into the tramp ward of the work-house, saying he was destitute. The guardians prosecuted him, but the magistrates yesterday dismissed the case.

POISONED BY MUSSELS.

Henry Johnstone, of Barry Dock, returned from his work with some mussels, which had been picked up in the dock. Having eaten the shell-fish he became iil, and though medical assistance was summoned, he died shortly afterwards.

MANIA FOR STEALING BICYCLES.

At Altrincham Harold Burrows, aged eleven, of Sale, who only last week at Sale received six strokes for stealing a bicycle, was charged with stealing two more bicycles. •

He was committed to a reformatory for five years.

MEDICAL STAFF RESIGNS

On account of differences of opinion with the management practically the whole of the consulting medical staff of the Wanstead Diant Orphan Asylum have resigned.

This fact has created a feeling of uneasiness, and it is thought that an independent committee should be appointed to thoroughly investigate the reasons which have prompted the medical men to take this step.

WANTED FIVE YEARS.

"I meant to do something so that I shall get a long term. Fourteen days is no use. I expect five or six years at Dartmoor for this."

A tramp named William Waikins, who was charged at Gainsborough with setting fire to a stack of wheat, is alleged to have made this remark to the constable who arrested him. He was committed

FOOD KILLED THE BABY.

"Well, please yourself, but don't blame me," said a midwife to Mrs. Lawrence, of Wandsworth, when that lady asked her whether hittle Isy Law-rence could be safely fed on a patent food. The result was that the child, which was six weeks old, died in convulsions from improper feetiling.

The coroner strongly commented upon the mid-wife's attitude, at the inquest yesterday, and said it was a great shame that helpless infants should be thus treated.

STATEMENT A FOOT THICK.

Before the London Registrar yesterday the public examination was opened of Messrs. Watson and Pfleiderer, bankers and army agents, of London. Liverpool, India, and elsewhere, trading as William Watson and Sons.
It was stated that the statement of affairs was upwards of a foot thick, and that it had not yet been filed.

The estimated habilities are £746,000, assets £329,000, and deficiency £225,000.

The case was adjourned until next November.

NO CARROTS FOR FIRE HORSES.

The chief of the London Fire Brigade's orders to his subordinates with respect to teaching the horses to run to be harnessed of their own accord contains the following quaint clause:—

"The men who are training the horses must be strict, and at the same time kind to them, and under no circumstances must they be played with. It is also not advisable to encourage the horses with sugar, carrots, etc.

A statue of Charles Kingsley is to be placed on the quay at Bideford.

Lady Audrey Buller, who was suddenly taken ill while watching the Military Tournament, continues to make excellent progress.

Dr. Boycott, who has been investigating the symptoms of ankylostomiasis, a disease prevalent in Cornish tin mines, at Guy's Hospital, has him-self become a victim.

Fire in a hut at Avonmouth New Dock Works caused the death of a man named Smith, who was one of the seventeen occupants. He was killed through returning to save some of his property.

A perch weighing 14th, has been captured at Bir-mingham, having tightly jammed in its throat the body of a 4th, roach. The head of the latter was too big for the perch's throat, and the result was that both fish were suffocated.

UNLUCKY COINCIDENCE.

While working in New Kent-road yesterday Henry Lawley, of Herne Hill, fell from a ladder a distance of thirty-five feet. He was picked up terribly injured, and removed to Guy's Hospital. On the same day of last year Lawley fractured three ribs, also through a fall from a ladder, at Streatham

FIRE IN FARRINGDON-STREET.

Early yesterday morning Bames were seen to shoot out of one of the electric light distributing boxes in Farringdon-street, E.C., and it was soon found that the electric cable was blazing. Sand was used to extinguish the flames.

DUKE'S DAUGHTER NOT OBJECTED TO.

From the "Morning Post":-

GOOD POSITION is open to Young Lady of noble or titled family; must be of good appearance; between 18 and 23; one leaving school preferred.—Address, etc.

LIGHTING HIS PIPE CAUSED DEATH.

Alfred Wilson was with friends in Dhoon Glen, Isle of Man, walking on a narrow track along the grass slope above a deep ravine. When in the act of lighting his pipe he stepped on the grass, and, slipping, fell down the clift 40ft. deep into the stream. His injuries proved fatal.

MET HER MOTHER IN PRISON.

A smartly-thressed young woman, of prepossessing appearance, was arrested on a charge of obtaining food and lodging by false pretences, and was committed for trial at Bridgend. While awaiting removal to Cardiff, another woman, dirty and neglected, was brought into the cell. The women immediately recognised each other—they were mother and daughter, who had not seen each other for a number of years.

QUARREL STOPPED THEIR WEDDING.

On the way to church, where they were to be married, a Halifax couple had a dispute. It is said that the question at issue was as to which of them should open the cab door, and the quarrel became heated as they approached the church. On arriving there the bridgegoom hastily opened the door and fled, and the ceremony did not take place.

"RUSSIAN BEAR" V. "RUSSIAN LION."

The supremacy of Hackenschnidt is threatened by a compatriot. Andrei Liubomirsky, of Poltava, has signed a contract with a German agent, who announces his intention of bringing the "Russian Bear" (Liubomirsky's sobriquet) to London to wrest the laurels from the "Russian Lion."

Liubomirsky has defeated every Russian who has hitherto opposed him. He stands 6ft. 3\(\frac{1}{2}\) in his stockings. He served in the famous Preobrahensky Regiment of Gonards, and is a great favourite with the Tsar's family, having often been sentry at the Imperial Palace, where he was known as "zdorovi rebionok," or "the healthy baby."

COUNCILLOR'S MIDNIGHT CHASE,

When Robert Place was charged at Crewe with burglary it was stated that early on Sunday moraling Mrs. Kettell, who is the wife of a town councillor, was awakened from her sleep by a man in the bedroom. The man was on his hands and knees. She gave the alarm, and the man darted from the room, and her husband chased him with only his shirt on.

The man, who was the prisoner, dashed through the bedroom window, got on to the roof, and siddown a ladder, afterward jumping a high wall into Crewe Railway Works yard. The councillor followed him, and though he injured his thigh through the iron spikes on a wall, he scaled the wall, and jumped down twelve or fifteen feet, spraining his ankle.

Prisoner, who was captured by a railway man, was remanded. When Robert Place was charged at Crewe with Mr. George Barnes has been re-elected general secretary of the Amalgamated Engineers' Society by an overwhelming majority.

Officers commanding battalions of the Foot Guards have been instructed to demand puttees to replace the brown leggings now in wear by the Police-constable Lewis Jones, who tried to stop a runaway horse at Liverpool, was struck by a shaft, and died in a couple of hours. He leaves a widow and seven children.

An elderly gentleman died suddenly in a railway carriage at Dalston Junction yesterday. Papers found on the body bore the name of Saunders, and suggested that he was connected with the School Board.

PASSENGERS' GRISLY DISCOVERY.

At Chadwell Heath Station on the Great Eastern At Chadwell Heath Station on the Great Eastern Railway passengers by an early train yesterday called attention to the body of a man which was lying on the rails.

The remains were horribly mutilated, and were apparently those of a man about thirty-five to forty years of age.

CALF WITH TOO MANY FEATURES.

A heifer belonging to Mr. Cheetham, of Romi-ley, has just calved. The calf had two pairs of eyes, two mouths, two pairs of ears, and sixteen teeth, though only one skull.

STOLE HIS MOTHER'S CHEQUE.

William James Lester, a boy of twelve, living at Holloway, stole a cheque for £7 11s. 8d., his mother's monthly income, cashed it through a tradesman, and was arrested at Bournemouth. At North London yesterday he was remanded.

WHISKY STORED IN A CHURCH.

A fire which broke out in Thoverton, Devon, in-volving an inn and half a dozen thatched cottages, caused the owners of the houses to take their furni-ture to the church and store it there for safety. Among the property taken into the church were a number of jars of spirits from the inn cellar.

BOY BOXERS' FATAL FLIGHT.

Two boys, James Hurst and Peter Gaskell, were having a friendly encounter with the gloves in a field adjoining Winstanley siding, when the farmer appeared.

They took to flight across the siding, and the Liverpool to Manchester express dashing past at the time injured Hurst so severely about the head that he has succumbed to his injuries.

STRANGLED BY A STOCKING.

A young domestic named Susan Maria Grace Challis was committed for trial at Rochester yes-terday on a charge of murdering her illegitimate child.

The baby was found in the girl's box with a stock-ing tied tightly round its neck, and the medical evidence was to the effect that the child had had a separate existence.

INTEMPERANCE AND INSANITY.

The medical officer, in his annual report of Sunderland Asylum, says:—"When wages are high, crime, drunkenness, and insanity are also high. The commonest cause of insanity is alcoholism."
The Middlesex Asylum Committee, in their annual report, state that intemperance in drink is responsible for 43 lunatics out of a total of 2,053; adverse circumstances, 37; domestic troubles, 36; love affairs, 5; influenza, 3; and fright, 10.

LYONS' SHARES PAY 30 PER CENT.

At the tenth ordinary general meeting of J. Lyons and Co., Limited, held vesterday, Mr. Joseph Lyons said an interim dividend of the rate of 25 per cent, per annum for the first bullyeer had come been paid, and it was proposed to pay a final dividend for the second half-year on the ordinary shares at the rate of 35 per cent, per annum, and to carry forward the sum of £85,561.

In 1806 the company paid no dividend, in the following year the board distributed 8 per cent, the figure having grown steadily larger until it reached the present dividend.

MR. HENGLER'S BANKRUPTCY.

MR. HENGLER'S BANKBUFIGT.

Af a meeting of the creditors of Mr. Albert Henry Hengler, circus proprietor, held at Manchester, the gross liabilities were set down at £8,507, of which the debtor expected that £3,500 would rank for divident. The assets were estimated to produce £3,674, leaving a surplus of £94 over the liabilities. "Bad trade and heavy business expenses in proportion to takings." were ascribed by the debtor as the causes of his failure. It was stated that Mr. Hengler had no proposal to lay before the creditors, and it was resolved.

THE CITY.

More Cheerful Tone-Better Business-Duff Developments.

sumably believes in its future, there is even less reason to view with satisfaction a possibility that it will receive to substantial a cash payment before applying has been substantial a cash payment before applying has been been considered to the constant of the working capital, but this prospectus tells a very different story.

LATEST MARKET PRICES.

the official close of the Stock Exchange.
The following are the closing prices for the day.

"Consols 29 pc. 909 904
The Account 509 905
The Account 509 906
London C.C. 509 508
"Nat. War. Loan 98 984
"Nat. War. Loan 98 984
Argenite 1889 103 103
Argenite 1889 103 103
Argenite 1889 103 103
Brailland 9c 1889 75 758
Do Wood Minns 898
To Do Wood Minns 898
To Chili 1880 ... 95
To Chile 508 97 894
Nitrate Ord. ... 74
The Account of the Stock Exchange. Argentine 1886 . 103
Do Fund's . 1083
Parallian's personal parallian's p

.& I. D. Df. Ord. weisbach Ord
Anglo-French
Ashanti G. F.
Assoc, G. M.
Barnato Cons.
Champ. Reef
Chartered Co.
City & Sub.
Con. Gold S.A.
Town Reef.
De Beers Def.
East Rand
E. Rand. M. Est.
Peduld
Pld ahuis E.
Old Coast Amt.

enver 192
rie Shares 235
Do Pref. 581
linois Cent. 1323
ville and N'ville 1693
lissouri 154

B.A. Gt. South'n132 133

Joh. Con.
Knights
Lake View Cons.
May Consolidated
Meyer & Charl.
Modderfontein
Mysore Gold
Nile Valley
N. Copper
Nundydroog

Gold Coast Amt Gold'n Horsesh Gt. Bld. Per. Ne Do Prop. Gt. Fingall 10/ Ivanhoe

Con. In.

FOR THE HOLIDAY SEASON.

NOTICES TO READERS.

The Editorial, Advertising, and General Business Offices of the Daily Mirror are:—

2, CARMELITE-STREET,

TELEPHONES: 1310 and 1319 Holborn.
The West End Offices of the Daily Mirror are:—
5 AND 46, NEW BOND-STREET, LONDON, W.
TELEPHONE: 1996 Gerrard.
ELEGRAPHIC ADDRESS: "Reflexed," London.
ZARIS (DFICE: 25, Rue Taitbout.

Daily Mirror

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 8, 1904,

THE POLITICAL WOMAN.

This is the time of year when a certain sort of women boldly mount platforms and give forth their opinions on current politics. Yesterday, for instance, the Women's National Liberal Association, with the aid of a few men, spent a hearty afternoon denouncing the Government. And there are others.

Why is it that ninety-nine out of every hundred men have no use for the political woman? Is it, as the political women say, because they are slaves to prejudice, or is mere really some thing unnatural in the spectacle? A little of both perhaps.

Dr. Johnson said that a woman preaching was like a dog walking on its hind legs. St. Paul expressed the same idea in more saintlike language when he declared that women ought to keep silence in assemblies. The fact is women have better things to do than spoiling their voices shouting out platitudes and trying to persuade themselves they are helping the universe to go round.

Women do help the universe to go round if they do their duty as wives and mothers. They might be, if they liked, the absolute rulers of the world without ever making a single speech or going near a polling place. The soft persuasion and ingenious argument of a real woman may do much to bend the wills of men, whereas the platform woman, with her flushed face, strained throat, and general air of misplaced energy, never yet made any difference to anybody's opinion.

made any difference to anybody's opinion.

Women lend this dusty, modern life of ours a picturesque touch; a touch, perhaps, of the old, happy barbarism. They are so much more primitive than men. They do not indulge in so much solemn make-believe. If they once take to the same tiresome pursuit: as men, such as politics or sport, they will quite lese their distinctive charm.

However, we need not fear this happening just yet, fortunately, for no woman so far has ever been known to want to address men in a body when she could get one to talk to quietly ma corner by himself.

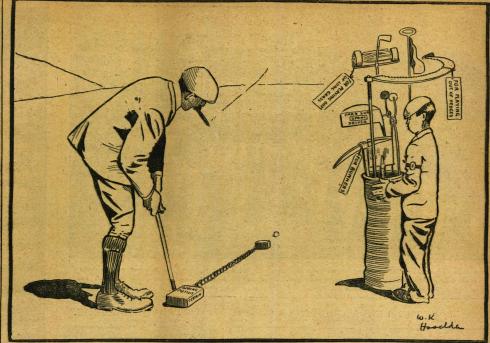

Does Mr. Arnold-Forster intend to keep Mr. Brodrick's promise that no officer shall be ap-pointed to a high command in peace time who would not be given responsible work in war would not be given responsible work in war? The impending announcement of Lord Methuen's appointment to the Fourth Army Corps or its equivalent sets one a-thinking over this. Ought a general who has fallen into the hands of the enemy ever to be given a lead in the field again? Lord Methuen had hard luck, no doubt, But still there is the fact. Must we have another three years' war to teach us military wisdom?

Since the day when Joshua made the sun stand still, there has been no achievement to equal Ma. P. F. Warner's yesterday. He was actually the cause of stopping a cricket match! Never before have two elevens suspended play while they changed their clothes and went to a wolding. We hand like and went to a wedding. We should like, by the way, to hear what was said by the enthu-sites who had paid their money at Lord's to see a day's play. Did they go off to see Mr. Warner married, too?

A THOUGHT FOR TO-DAY.

There is something positively agreeable to all men, to all, at least, whose nature is not most grovelling and base, in gaining knowledge for its own sake. You are nothing the tricker for it; you do not gratify your palate, or any other bodily appetite; and yet, it is so pleasing that you would give something out of your pocket to obtain it, and would forego some bodily enjoyment for its sake.—Lord Brownhau (1778-1868).

THE INVENTOR ON THE LINKS.

leld for the inventive genius. As there are no regulations governing the form and mechanism of golf-clubs the crank may be expected to have a strange assortment before long.

MORNING'S GOSSIP. THIS

This is the very height of the charity entertainmesseason. To-day the Prince and Princess of Wales are devoting both afternoon and evening to benevolent effort, while the King is patrougal a performance in aid of one hospital, and the Duchess of Connaught opening a bazaar in the interest of another. To-morrow, again, any number of royalties will be found doing their best to attract money out of the kind-hearned and the snob-bish alike. Of all the odd charrites brought to our notice in this way the oddest surely is the effort "to provide articles for Royal Marines." What is the Admirally doing, I wonder?

Lord Acton, who was married yesterday to Miss Dorothy Lyon, of Appleton Hall, Cheshire, is the sno of the peer who was known as a child by the nickname "the prodigy of learning." Evidendy a prototype of Lord Curzon. His father married a daughter of the great house of d'Alberg, who claim to have desended from Marcellus, a reputed relation of our Saviour. For centaries, at the coronation exemonies of the Holy Roman Emperors, a member of the family was entitled to receive the first knighthood of the reign. As a diplomat the present Lord Acton has risen rapidly. He has been secretary at Berlin and Vienna, and is now the British representative at Berne.

** **

There are three very happy little girls in the German town of Saarbrücken. They are quite ordinary little girls, but they have been kissed by the Emperor and the Empress, and they are under promise to call at the Palace whenever they go to Berlin. Also they know that little princesses sometimes spill egg and cocoa on their frocks when they are having high tea, just like non-royal children. All this happened to them through being chosen to present a bouquet to the Kaiser's small daughter, when the royal train passed through. The incident has lightly delighted the Germans, as such domestic builets always do.

The sentiment which keeps up the duel is still strong on the Continent. This is the explanation of the circular which has been issued from St. Petersburg to all Russian representatives abroad, making light of the attack upon Count Lamsdorff by Prince Dolgorouki (who has, it must be repeated, no connection with the noble of that name who married Miss Fleetwood Wilson a few years ago). The general feeling is that Count Lamsdorff ought to have fought his assailant instead of handing him over to the police.

From two "leading London dailies" of yester

From two recaining London dumes or yease-day morning:

The London trade-man has suddenly swakened to the fact that the season is one of the best on record.

Most of the shopkeepers in the West End are-de-less on the best on the best on the best on the season is one of the best on the best on the best of t

You pays your money and you

Miss Vesta Tilley makes a good deal of money in this country, and now that she is appearing again after her successful American tour she is again after her successful American tour she is probably worth more than ever to music-hall managers. Yet no offer ever made to her here comes up to one she received from Chicago. A weekly salary of 4255 would have been hers if she had cared to stay in the wild and woolly West. "Yes, it sounds tempting," says this little clever woman, when she is asked about it, "but do you know Chicago?"

Fifteen years ago Mr. Edward Terry publicly announced his intention of acting in America. Now he is going to fulfil his promise. Mr. Terry will he is going to fulfil his pomise. Mr. Terry will not, however, revive in that country any of the old Gaity punning burlesques, for he is a prudent man, and will not wilfully risk his life. He will open his tour with "The House of Burnside," in which he has found a part to suit him so well. All our good wishes will go with him, for Mr. Terry is one of those actors who consistently keep up the dignity of the theatrical profession. Did he not found the Actors' Benevolent Fund, and is he not a church-warden?

Everyone will rejoice to learn that "Jimmy Lowther received no serious injuries as a result of his recent lift accident. The bluff, genial Yorkshireman is popular wherever he goes, and the world could ill spare such a light-hearted personality. His humour was never better displayed ality. His humour was never better displayed than when he lightly bore the cares of office as Chief Secretary for Ireland. Then, when Mr. Synan-remarkable for his very loud voice-rose to address the House, Mr. Lowther hastly left his seat. "Lowther, where are you going?" demanded an indignant Irish member. "I'm going out on the terrace to hear Synan," shouted the Secretary as he disappeared. And even the indignant Irishman forgave him for the jest.

Since she sang "Sister Mary Jane's Top Note" Miss Louie Freear has always been sure of a warm welcome from London audiences, and her experience at Hammersmith this week shows that she is as popular as ever. Yet, though her success has been great, the inimitable "lady low comedian" had to wait and work some time before it cam had to wait and work some time before it came. She made her first appearance when only eight weeks old, at the old Victoria Theatre, being carried on nightly for eight weeks, at a salary of 8s. per week. But it was not until she reached the mature age of seven that Miss Freear was fairly launched on her theatrical career, and for narry fundament on her meatured career, and for meanly fourteen years she worked regularly in the provinces before she secured fame in London. Boy Bob, the part she is now playing, is the one she likes best, but she confesses to having a great longing to play in tragedy.

A MAN OF THE HOUR.

King Sol.

If he only had this country to keep bright, he would certainly never die of overwork. Still, we cannot complain just now, seeing that he has been shedding the light of his countenance upon us for four days together.

His unusual activity has been the talk of town and country, especially as it followed a week in which he had obstinately refused to visit us at all.
What are the reasons for his in-and-out running not even the Meteorological Office can tell.

As good an explanation as any was offered by the witty Frenchman who said, "You English live so much in semi-darkness that you must have omitted to pay your gas bills to le bon Dieu, who only gives you a half-pressure supply."

King Sol is the best doctor going. Small ailments fly before his generous beams, and he helps us to resist even the more serious ills that flesh is heir to. Yet there are parts of the world where his genial persistence is voted a bore, and where people long for a grey day just as we sigh for a sunny

Many people imagine that he is 95 million miles away from us. This is a great mistake. The dis-tance is only 94 millions. However, there are excuses for the error. Some observers are even in favour of 92 millions.

At this distance he is a pleasant neighbour, when he can be presunded to show himself. But his temper is as variable as a woman's (or a man's) and by the time these lines are read he may very probably be the man of the hour no longer. We can but hope for the best,

QUESTION AND ANSWER.

What Is the Effect of Drinking the Cheaper Teas Which Sir Thomas Lipton Says Are Becoming More Popular?

Their effect upon the digestion and the nerves is very bad indeed.

The best tea, so far as health is concerned is China tea, which is very light in colour when brewed. This is not likely to do anyone harm.

Indian and Ceylon teas are of many qualities. Even the best are hardly so harmless as China tea Still, if a fairly good tea is bought, it need have no ill-effect so long as it is made carefully.

It must not stand upon the leaves more than three minutes, at the outside, and it ought not to be drunk in large quantities. The breaking of either rule is sure to be regretted.

A Japanese regiment of veterans of the Fifth Division, who are being reserved by General Oku for the most desperate work in the attack on Port Arthur. The Japanese army is now within two miles of the Russian army defending the stronghold.—(Photograph by Underwood and Underwood.)

THE KING'S GUESTS.

PRINCE JOHN OF GLUCKSBURG. Two guests who are visiting the King. The Archduke Frederick arrives to-day. Prince John has already arrived in London.

YESTERDAY'S WEDDING.

Lady Margaret Knowles, who was married yesterday to Mr. Reginald Nicholson. The wedding was a very quiet one.-(Photograph by Langfler.)

The chief Lama of Rhumtek, in Sikkim. He is exceedingly coolies working over the pass from Sikkim to Tibet. This news that his brother, who is one of the chief Abbots at L

British expedition. He was gre

KUROPATKIN'S DASH FOR PORT ARTHUR.

A view of Haicheng, on the Manchurian Railway, about forty miles south of Liao-yang. General Kuropatkin has now reached a few miles to the south of Haicheng in his attempt to relieve Port Arthur.

TO-DAY'S STOCK EXCHANGE W

MR. T. E. HAMMOND. (Photographs by London Stereoscopic C

Two hot favourites for to-day's seven-mile Stock Exchange won the race last year.

ITION TO TIBET.

endly to the British, and is managing the Tibotan ograph was taken at the time that he received the a, had been obliged to take the field against the amused at the news.

VETERAN COMPOSER.

DUKE.

Mr. Hammond

M. Camille Saint-Saens, who, at the age of 70, has just written a new opera, "Helens," which will be produced at Covent Garden next week.

A PERILOUS AND RECORD MOTOR-CAR ASCENT OF SNOWDON.

Mr. W. M. Letts, photographed on the top of Snowdon in the 5-h.p. Oldsmobile in which he made the ascent. At one point he only escaped falling over a 1,200 foot precipice by two inches. Snowdon was recently ascended in a 15-h.p. car, but the ascent took three hours longer than Mr. Letts's performance.

AT THE ALHAMBRA.

Mile. Dancrey, a singer and dancer from Paris, who is charming the audiences at the Alhambra Theatre by her graceful dancing and delightful voice.

TWO FINE CRICKET PERFORMANCES.

J. Gunn not only took seven wickets for Notts against Gloucestershire, but also made 95 runs, hitting a 6 and fifteen A's.—(Photograph by Hawkins.)

C. B. Fry, who made 226 runs in 270 minutes for Sussex against Derby.
This is the best score of the season.
(Photograph by Hawkins.)

JEWELLED STRAP AND OTHER ACCESSORIES OF FASHIONABLE ATTIRE. THE SUMMER OUTFITS.

TO KEEP EXPENSES DOWN AND YET LOOK SMART.

muslin gown at least the summer girl, who tetty things and wishes to look well-dressed, Let it be made of soft, white, spotted Exquisitely dainty was a gown recently ed in a smart shop. It had a very full leep fold tucks, the tucks French dresscall "plis religieuses." Between them were le of little frills, edged with Valenciennes nd above this blue taffetas threaded through Colour was introduced upon the bodice same manner, an idea that is not only new ost practical, for the ribbons can easily loved and the gown washed. Again the ape of the gown can be changed by frequently different sets of ribbons.

y Trimming Made at Home.

Trimming Made at Home, good substitute for the lace mechalisms te shops can be quite inexpensively made grout spotted mustin diamond-hoped or altimas, and finishing the edges with very aftered lace. See whe edges of the meditation to the material it trims, which will make stand out effectively. Flowered taffetas or boon, bordered with beire stitching and mild fulls, also make attractive trimmings, size grid will not spend all her income on al hats, but will save quite a considerable accessories, such as parasols, summer such as parasols, su and becoming veils. She will also include one smart wrap in her wardrobe, and this accomplished without any very large expen-if sufficient ingenuity is employed. An in-becoming little shawl-shaped mantle and of mouseline in several thicknesses and of a shades of the same called.

int model is a good one to copy. It t in the middle of the back, one on h in Nutriment Delicate in Flavour EGGS! NO RISK! NO TROUBLE! each side, and two in front. Have the undermost shawl of the deepest shade and the upper ones of the lighter ones. Each shawl should be hem-stitched at the edge, and there should be enough difference in the size to show the several distinct hems. The taffetas pelerine is also a very suc-cessful wrap, and for economy's sake a black one is the best choice.

Parasols are amone the little accessories that on Parasols are among the little accessories that go so far towards making the effect of the toilette. Most picturesque are those of taffetas with a grass lawn edging and those of red cotton with embroidered borders in Oriental designs. They are really more generally useful than one would at first suppose, as they are suitable for almost any informal occasion—the river, seaside, driving, country strolls—in fact, town is about the only place for which they would not be appropriate, and even in London they make bright spots of colour in square, gardens, and the Park.

Now that there is such a range for real lace, and also for sleeve fills, the wide-awake girl will utilize any old-fashioned handkerchiefs trimmed with real lace, such as Valenciennes or Duchesse, which she may be fortunate enough to possess, for making sleeve flounces. By cutting them directly in two, joining the lace and lawn carefully, and ornamental band is worn, especially when, as in this case, it is made of very costly diamonds and pearls.

shaping the lawn to fit the wrist, a very pleasing and satisfactory effect is obtained.

A great French jewelfer who has established himself in London for the season is showing amongst his sensationally beautiful ornaments shoulder straps made of gems. Real diamonds fashioned to look like branches of flowers, with which sometimes pearl dewdrops are mingled, are sold, and lovely bunches of forget-me-nots in urquoises, as well as other biossom sprays. Now here is an idea that can be adapted to the evening gown that must not cost much by the aid of good but not real gems, and to the end that the notion may be fully understood the pictures on this page to-day are devoted to it.

In one of the papers the other day it was alleged that a great lady was wearing her jewels gummet to her neck and shoulders. This no one who where here is an included the stranger of the property would be likely to do. But the jewellers are clever enough now to make the gems with which they conjunc look as if they were unset, by means of the most slengter platinum backgrounds. Another clever mode of simulating the unset effect is to assy-going with their money, especially, men who know that if they spend money this week they can junc the throat, so that the gem rests upon the bare neck with no visible means of support.

ARE WOMEN PARSIMONIOUS?

WHY SOME WIVES SAVE MONEY.

There is a fine old masculine prejudice family sed in the world that women, as a class, are stingy The whole question hangs closely on to the powe make exceedingly pretty straps.

of earning money, for the woman who makes her own life and her own living is rarely guilty of the vice of parsimony. The horrors of a rigid domestic economy are usually practised by wives to whom a weekly dole for housekeeping is handed out; women, who, not possessing a penny of their own, and with no pin-money settled upon them at marriage, are tempted to pinch and scrape in order to put something by for themselves.

Light Come, Light Go.

The woman who earns, on the other hand, especially one who earns on a large scale, is more often than not open-handed to a fault. It is narrated that the great writer, Mrs. Oliphant, for eximple, who made a good income by her pen, lived always on the fat of the land, travelled en princesse. sent her sons to Eton and to Oxford, and dressed well. Although a good Scotswoman, we are told by one who knew her that she hated small economies. To travel expensively was her way. She would never travel second-class. She had none of adoly from work. This book contained the stayed at the very best and most expensive which has cured thousands of rupture.

WHY will answer properly. The Price of the "Price of the "Dalli" Fuel is 1/9 per box
Of all Ironmongers or Domestic Stores

THE DALLI SMOKELESS FUEL CO.

SATISFACTORY FURNISHING.

Every day we receive unsolicited testimonials testifying to the excellence of our Furniture and our method of business. Here's one of the latest: xis-road, Brighton, May 30, 1904.

Call To-day or write for Catalogue. We guarantee you perfect satisfaction. Free delivery in plain vans everywhere.

W. JELKS & SONS,

LONDON'S MAMMOTH CREDIT FURNISHERS, 263, 265, 267, 269, 271, 273, 275, Holloway Road, N.

2a, 2, 4, 6, Eden Grove (adjoining). £5 Worth . "WE DO ... £10 " ... AS WE ... £20 " ... ADVERTISE." 4/0 per month 7/0 11/0

Telephone: 230, North. Telegrams: " Jellico, London.

RUPTURE BOOK FREE

Home Method That Has Succeeded in the Severest Cases.

prominent specialist in the cure of Rupture has written on the subject, and tells how hundreds of sufferers have a themselves at home at a slight expense. The hook has bee

MR. W. HARDING

BEGIN THIS TO-DAY.

THE PREMIER'S DAUGHTER.

By ALICE and CLAUDE ASKEW,

Authors of "The Shulamite," the only novel by new authors this year which has gone into a second edition, and is still the rage at all the West End libraries.

The old man glanced up at the beautiful woman as if she was a vision from another world. Then he shambled forward and touched the long cloak she was wearing, putting his fingers on it delicately, almost furtively.

"A woman, a lady," he said, in a voice heavy with tears, "and she speaks to me like this. God—God—it's long since I've heard a woman's voice. You are not Maisie, are you?"—he tried to get a better view of her face—i'or Maisie's ghost?"

He had mentioned the name of John Heron's mother, her pet name, not the one she went by to the world. Beatrix knew this; so did the man breathing hard in the shadow. Perhaps the sound of those hard, deep-drawn breaths prompted her what to say.

of those nard, useposed what to say.

"Look on me as Maisie's daughter," she said gently, taking the roughened hands—hands coarse from prison toil—between her own delicate palms. "Try and control yourself; summon all your faculties together, for we must hit on some plan of hiding you. You are never going back to Princehdding you. You are never going back to Prince-town."

"Maisie's daughter." The poor, wandering brain, with its brief flickerings of reason, could only take in one idea at a time. "But Maisie had no daughter; she bore me a son-such a brave, boany boy. John we called him, John, though Maisie wanted him called Heron after her mother's family—yes, yes—but what am I saying, and to whom am I speaking?" He glared at the girl with weak fierceness: he was wandering on the border line of santy.

John Heron came forward. He was very pale, but his face was full of stern resolve; he gently disengaged the girl's hands and put her, on one side and faced the old man himself.

"Father," he said quietly, "I am that boy you speak of—Maisie's son—my name is John, Heron Denzil. Thank God I have found you, father—oh, thank God!"

"Hell!" The word broke from Philip Denzil's blue lips, and he shrunk back into the farthest corner of the shed, ladding an at-adding and a sold in the farthest corner of the shed, ladding an at-adding and a sold in the farthest corner of the shed, ladding an at-adding and a sold in the farthest corner of the shed, ladding an at-adding and a sold in the farthest corner of the shed, ladding an at-adding and a sold in the farthest corner of the shed, ladding an at-adding and a sold in the farthest corner of the shed, ladding and a sold in the farthest corner of the shed, ladding and a sold in the farthest corner of the shed ladding and a sold into the farthest corner of the shed ladding and a sold into the farthest corner of the shed ladding and a sold into the farthest corner of the shed ladding and a sold into the farthest corner of the shed ladding and a sold into the farthest corner of the shed ladding and a sold into the farthest corner of the shed ladding and a sold into the farthest corner of the shed ladding and a sold into the farthest corner of the shed ladding and a sold into the farthest corner of the shed ladding and a sold into the farthest corner of the shed ladding and a sold into the farthest Denni. Thank God I have found you, father—oh, thank God! "we word broke from Philip Denzil's blue lips, and he shrunk back into the farthest corner of the shed, holding up trembling fingers to screen his face. "Don't look at me, boy," he cried bittetly, "don't see my shame. Uniock the door—then turn your head and let me get out into the dark—the dark where no man will find me." "Father!" Heron stretched out his hands pitifully, and the tears of a man's anguish made his eyes moist. His voice broke—he could say no more—only that one word, "Father." "Don't—in God's mane, don't—you have no father—he died—he died—when Philip Denzil entered Princetown." The convict spoke in short, broken gasps, his face working convulsively, "And not a word to your mother, not a word to Maisie." "She is dead," John Heron muttered in a low voice, but the man heard him, almost inaudible as the words were.

voice, but the man heard him, amost inautible as the words were.

"Dead—thank God—dead! Now I know," he went on quickly, "why I have been tortured with dreams of freedom, and had to escape—or die. Maisie's spirit has been calling me, calling me out to freedom." He paused, then added slowly, as if speaking to himself: "But it's all so sague—so shadowy—sometimes I know I am Convict 170, a man fleeing from the law, and then I forget everything, the past thirty years foll back like a dream at dawn, and I feel myself again—the man who was."

"Life is a chequer-board of Nights and Days Where Destiny, with Men for Pieces, Plays.

FOR NEW READERS.

Who was John Heron's father? He does not know. He is a successful man, has made money in the Colonies, come home to buy a fine place on Dartmoor, and already made a mark in politics. But he has no idea of his origin. The only hint ever given to him was his mother's cry of "Philip? as she died.

Nevertheless, he persuades Beatrix Chevenix to promise to marry him, although she is the daughter of the Prime Minister, and one of the most fascinating young women in London, with hosts of admirers.

She engages herself to him, promising herself that she will throw him over if he does not improve on acquaintance; and goes to stay at Denzil's Folly, his Devonshire house.

While she is riding with him one day they meet a strange, ragged, old man, with whom Heron has words alone, but of whom he says nothing when he rejoins Beatrix. On the evening of the same day a curious noise is heard outside the house. Heron goes out quickly, saying it is a watch-dog loose. Then a fall is heard, and a

Soon after Heron has returned to his guests, he is informed by a warder that a convict has escaped from Princetown, the very Denzil, now an old man, who built Heron's house

That same night Beatrix is seized with a restless And same figure Beatris is select win a results in fit, and, hearing a noise in the lower part of the house; goes down to find out what it is. In the library she sees at a window a figure, which she recognises at once as that of the man whose wife she has promised to be.

He tells her that he has hidden the old man they met, who is, of course, the escaped convict, and that something persuades him he has found his father. She must think no more of marrying him, he says; but Beatrix will not listen to him. She insists on being allowed to see the fugitive, who is lying insensible in an outhouse, and together they try to revive him.

CHAPTER VII. (continued.)

CHAPTER VII. (continued.)

"There's more colour in his lips, see, John."
Beatrix Chevenix spoke in low tones, but there was a ring of hope in her voice, and she glanced down eagerly at the convict, seemingly, lorgeful that the best thing that could happen to the poor wetch would be to pass from sleep to sleep. It was very dark in the tool-house, and the lamp John Heron had placed on the carpenter's bench only shed a firth and sickly light. This place on. His hobby was carpentering, and he had caused the tool-house to be built in the garden to gratify this taste; no one came there but himself. The rain was pelting down again outside, coming down in torrents, and the wind shricked and howled. It was a night for the wild hunter to be abroad, warlocks and witches, and for all Christian folk to be abed and asleep.

All at once a long, nervous tremour passed through Philip Denzil's form, and, with a faint sigh, he opened his eyes on life. He started and sat up, blinking nervously at the light. First of all he looked dazed and bewildered; then, all at once, an expression of pitful terror returned to his shrunken face. He glanced first at Beatrix, and then at John Heron, in a cowed, frightened fashion, his underlip dropping like to a scared child.

"Where am I?" he whimpered feebly. "You are all against me. Yes, every one of you." Evidently some glimmerings of sense lighted his dull brain, for he started to his feet with a sudden rush of new-born strength, making desperately for the door, which he found locked against him.

"You have locked the door," he muttered, shiveringly. "You are going to tell them I am here, to make a jail-bird of me again; but I'll cheat you all. I'll never be taken alive. Give use a start, sir." He turned to John Heron with clasped hands. "Show me as much grace as you would give a fox or hare Turn me out on the moor and let the warders chase me there, it will be a brave chase, I gromise you that, and there will he have chase, I gromise you that, and there will he have chase, I gromise you that thing, the past thirty years roll back like a dream at dawn, and I feel myself again—the man who was."

He ceased to speak, facing his audience of two—an old, crazy man, the ghost of that Philip Denzil who had built up Denzil's Folly. Suddenly his eyes fell on the bread and meat that John Heron had brought with him, and, with a low, wollish cry, he ran forward and scized the food with trembling hands. He slunk buck with it to his corner, devouring it ravenously, tearing at the meat with the few teeth left him, suffing his mouth with large chunks of bread and cheese, uttering the while low, half-animal crise of satisfaction.

The man and woman watched him, horrified; it was an almost sawies spectacle, and one they both shrank from. Half unconsciously their hands are man and woman watched him, he had the work of the hand with the same of the work of the hand with the same of the work of the hand with the same of the work of the hand with the work of the work of the hand with the work of the work of the hand with the work of the work of the hand with the work of the work owatched him and had witnessed his digradation to the level of the brute. The food he had swallowed had quickened his mental faculties, and the poor wretch became other than Convict 170, even the polished gentleman of the years that had been. He flushed a burning red.

"Take her away," he cried hoarsely, pointing to Beatrix, "don't let her see how vie a beast a man may become." He rose to his feet and swayed forward unsteadily. "I was in my boat at Eton—I rowed four—and I took honours at Oxford; see me now "—he burst into a fit of pitiful, broken laughter—adding hoarsely, "see me now "See what it lies in a man's power to sink to—man sometimes a little higher than the angels, more often lower than the beasts; and what are you going to do with me?" He peered up almost suspiciously into his son's face. "The best thing would be to open that door and let me wander out."

"You will think differently," answered the start as a new man in a new country. You must keep to this hiding-place till the hue and cry dies down; then I'll drive you away one morning like a guest; oh, it will all be easy enough. Leave us alone now, Beatrix." He turned to the girl, "I must have some talk with my father and discuss plans; besides, you should have been in bed long ago," he spoke tenderly.

"Beatrix," the old man pronounced the name very softly, almost reverently, "are you his wife, my dear?" he asked, looking at the two as they stood side by side, his eyes moist and glistening.

"No-mo," interrupted Heron hastily, but Beatrix caught his hand with a nervous laugh.

"Not his wife—yet," she said quickly, making the great decision of her life with lightning-like raphity; "but I hope to be soon."

"I's on the said of the said of the soon of the decision of her of the with lightning-like raphity; "but I hope to be soon."

"I'd o mean it, noth. Love is the best thing in the wide world, and I do not intend to throw the gift away."

"I won't accept the sacrifice." He spoke hoarsely.

"I's no sacrifice—tell him." she turned to Philip.

hoarsely

hoarsely.

"It's no sacrifice—tell him," she turned to Philip Denzil, "tell him how his mother loved you—and I—am I not a woman, too, with a woman's heart; tell him how women love?" She spoke passionately, impulsively, all her soul in her eyes.

"Father, you don't know," interrupted John Heron; "you don't know who she is, or the wrong I should do her."

"She loves you," the old man answered softly; and then he held out his trembling fingers and joined their hands.

CHAPTER The Health VIII. haqoqioloooooook

The Premier had arrived. He had said the right thing to John Heron when the latter met him at the railway station, playing the part of future father-in-law to perfection. He had smiled half whimsi-cally, half fondly, at Beatrix, looking at her face with some anxiety, noticing a slight but subtle change.

"Has anyone taught you to suffer, child," he asked, with that latent tenderness peculiar to his manner with Beatrix. "Undine seems on her way to find a soul; there's a look in your eyes that I've never seen before;"

never seen before."
"You strange, fanciful person," Beatrix had in-terrupted gaily; "what are you going to say next?" But she had given her father's hand a tight pressure, as though acknowledging the truth tight pressure, as though acknowledging the truthof his words.

Now the evening was well on, and the house party were sitting round a blazing fire in the drawing-room. Julian Grimwood, to the fore with a neat, well-tumed story, Robert Chevenix taking his ease in a big elbow chair, but smiling carelessly, though his brain teemed with thought.

Beatrix was making slow, dreamy music at the piano. John Heron stood by her side, ostensibly to turn over the leaves of the book she never glanced at. Both man and girl looked anxious and worried, Heron peculiarly so.

"I John't know what to do with him," he whispered, under cover of the music. "He seems to have relapsed into a stupid, balf-silly state again.
He was right enough this alternoon, for he had shaved and put on the clothes I left with him, and he seemed as sensible as possible; but when I took, some food out before dinner he was crouching in a corner of the tool-house and hardly seemed to know me. Like a fool, I left a bottle of brandy there this morning, and he's drunk himself silly, I suppose."

dreams of freedom, and had to escape—or die, maisie's spirit has been calling me, culting me out to freedom." He paused, then added slowly, as if speaking to himself: "But ti's-all so vague—so shadowy—sometimes I know I am Convict '70, a man fleeing from the law, and then I forget everything, the past thirty years foil back like a dream at dawn, and I feel myself again—the man who was."

He ceased to speak, facing his audience of two—an old, crazy man, the ghost of that Philip Denail who had built up Denzil's Folly. Suddenly his eyes fell on the bread and meat that John Heronhad brought with him, and, with a low, wellish cryher an forward and seized the food with trembling hands. He slunk back with it to his corner, devouring it ravenously, tearing at the meat with large chunks of bread and cheese, uttering the while low, half-animal cries of satisfaction.

The man and woman watched him, horrified; the was an alkla-animal cries of satisfaction.

The man and woman watched him, horrified; the was an alkla-animal cries of satisfaction.

The man and woman watched him, horrified; the was on alkla-animal cries of satisfaction.

The man and woman watched him, horrified; the was on alkla-animal cries of satisfaction.

The man and woman watched him, horrified; the work watched him and had witnessed his degradariation to the level of the brute. The food the had swallowed had quickened his mental faculties, and he poor wretch became other than Convict 170, even the polished gentleman of the years that had been. He fished a burning red.

"Take her away," he cried hoarsely, pointing to Beatrix, 'don't let her see how wile a beast a man may become." He rose to his feet and sawed forward unsteadily. "I was in my boat at Eton—I rowed four—and I took honours at Oxford; see me now"—he burst into a fit of pitiful, broken laughter—adding hoarsely, "see me now! See what it he is in a man's power to sink to—man sometimes a little higher than the angels, more often lower than the beasts; and what are you going to do with me?" He peec

Julian Grimwood asked a few questions, as soon discovered that he had found Mrs. Blan ford again. He elicited that she was a recent quaintance of Lady Cary's, who had met her, appeared, at the house of some very musical frience who in their turn had made the widow's acquain ance at some musical society to which they all honged. Beatrix, it appeared, had taken a fan to the little lady, and invited her to call.

Long vears spent in the East had made Color to the little lady, and invited her to call. Long years spent in the East had made Colon Grimwood somewhat of a fatalist, and he decid-in his own mind that it was evidently inten-tat Amy Blandford should enter his his agai Being a friend of Beatrix and her family, he we bound to meet her sooner or later, and he wo dered vaguely whether this would be for good or ill.

During the conversation Beatrix had been planting often between for ill.

During the conversation Beatrix had been playing long drawn-out chords, pausing often between her fingers hovering over the notes.

"Play something lively, Trix; those solem chords you keep on striking have a depressing effect." Feedora Cary was the speaker, and she called out from the depths of a big armchair. She looked very pretty, a coiled up bundle of pint chiffon and frilly lace. Robert Chevenix alway declared that Feodora reminded him of sweet meat decked out in frills, and he was not fawrong. The little lady gave the impression of sugarloaf sweetness and light froth.

Beatrix smiled at her cousin, and dashed into a quaint old country dance, with a merry light hearted tune running through it. She played will the acted tune running through it. She played will verve and spirit; her listeners scened to be confronted with a whole ring of langhing lads an lasses circling galay round a Mappole, tripping it heel and loce.

fronted with a whole ring of laughing lads; lasses circling gaily round a Maypole, tripp it heel and toe.

"Oh, the merry tune," cried Feodora; cuse me everyone, but I must really dance to She sprang from her chair with a light bound, catching up her light, frilly skirts, began to morward, retreat, sway, and whirt, in the approfashion of the day. She danced well, and been taught by a famous dansenues, and the promptu performance was a pretty one to was Beatris laughed from her seat at the piano; Rol Chevenix beat time with his hand, the two aunts nodded their heads approvingly, and Cole Grimwood remembered other dances and the of dusky dancing girls. East and West, West East, the eternal feminine is pretty well the all over the great would, for in dancing girl had courted admiration with more ardium the Feodora Cary. She, like the women she we have turned from contemptuously, had a garding free phontache caressingly.

Imager for appaines and a ching side of intercy; The scene amused Grimwood, and he stroked his grey moustache caressingly.

"That's right, Feo," smiled Sir Anthony, well pleased; "show its what you can do when you like. I believe you're quite as good as any of those Gaiety girls, 'pon my word; I do." He clapped his big hands with some enthusiasm; he was honestly proud of his pretty wife, pleased with the admiration she always extorted. "Isn's she good fun?" he added enthusiastically, turning to John Heron, but the latter took no heed. He was listening, listening intently; but not to the voice of the worthy baronet or the merry country dance. His quick ear had caught the sound of someone tapping at the window pane—sharp, eager taps, and he prayed God with heart and soul that what he feared so might not be.

"Do you hear—the window?" he muttered hoarsely, bending over Beatrix. "Someone is trying to get m."

"The till delived we steatled and he was lead to the produced of the steat of the state of the state noarsety, bending over Beatms. "Sometrying to get m."

The girl glanced up startled, and he mark pittin throop of her underlip, the sudden exporter of the control of the c destiny so bitter, and yet it seemed the desting front of him if he allowed Beatrix to become front of him if he allowed Beatrix to become his wife.

"You had better go out by the hall door and see what has happened," she replied in low tones.
"I hear someone tapping, too. Make haste, John—there's the sound again." She raised her hands to bring them down with a loud crash on the keys, hoping to deaden all outside sound.
Feodora Cary swirled her skirts with some annoyance; she had not expected the dauce to end with an uncalled-for series of chords.
"What a din, Trix," she muttered, petulantly, with her spoilt-child air, sinking to the ground in a billow of tulle. "What will you give me for my pains, Uncle Robert—the half of your kingdom, or the head of a prophet?"

The Premier made no answer; he was looking at Beatrix intently and earnestly, the twitching of the girl's lips, the beating of the pulse in her throat, the vivid colour burning like a red spot on each cheek; all these signs were marked and noted.

Julian Grimwood glanced at the girl as well, he realised that something was about to hap and he wondered what. Even Miss Grizel loo up inquiringly, letting her tatting fall upon into the wonter which the properties of the properties of the control of the properties of the propert

(To be continued to-morrow.)

THE DEADLY AMERICAN PUTTER.

Ir. Travis's Wonderful Club Which All Golfers Are Talking About To-day.

The golf championship of 1904 has boomed the utter, notably the "mallet putter" with the un-ronounceable name of "Schenectady," with which fr. Travis, the American, won the amateur chamship at Sandwich.

merit of the "mallet putter" compared the ment of the manet puter compared the the ordinary wooden and iron putters is being cently discussed by all golfers from St. Andrews the margin of Maoriland, with thousands of lubs "sandwiched" in between.

Each variety of putter has its votaries, who swear their favourite weapon and use no other. The old-fashioned wooden one still finds a place the outfit of such doughty golfers as James

The old wooden putter.

Andrew Kirkaldy, Willie Fernie, Ben Archie Campbell, H. Hilton, and Mr undoubtedly the most popular putter to-day iron-headed type, used by experts like and Tom Vardon, Alec Herd, W. H. Taylor, illour-Melville, J. E. Laidlay, and Horace ininson.

ivis alone uses the "Schenectady" or "mallet inium putter, which resembles a polo stick in lange.

The "mallet" is not a new one by any means, tough Mr. Travis has suddenly made it famous, has been in the catalogue of Messrs. Spalding, i Fetter-lane, who are the makers in England, it over two years, but hitherto there has been no mand for it.

Old fashions die hard, and golfers as a class are streenly conservative in their prejudices against my innovation in their royal and ancient game.

The victory of Travis has caused numerous inquiries to be made about the "mallet putter," with the result that the firm have within the past few days received orders for over 190 dozen. These will have to be specially made, as Messrs. Spalding were not encouraged to keep a large number in stock. Although the old golfers clung to the ordinary putter, it is noticeable that those who once tried the aluminium one with the heel always stuck to it afterwards.

not disproportionately extol the merits of the American putter, as they claim that it is good for running up, but not for short distances, which require a cleek-faced putter, so that one can put some side on the ball.

The shop-keepers, of course, may be influenced slightly by the fact that they carry a big stock of ordinary putters, and only a few samples of the "mallet putter."

One dealer in the City said yesterday, "We have had over a hundred players in the shop since Friday to examine the Schenectady putters, but have only sold three of them.

"The majority of inquirers imagined that Mr.

ew aluminium putter, known as the "mallet" or "Schenoctady" putter, used Mr. Travis, the winner of the Amateur Golf Championship at Sandwich.

The firm in Fetter-lane made the first of the Schenectady putter at the request of Mr. Travis, who asked their New York house to make one after his own design. Nine months ago six dozen were sent out to Hong-Kong from London, and this putter is very popular in Australia, America, and New Zealand.

The English retailers of golfing implements do

Travis had invented some new kind of putter, and were very disappointed when they were shown the old mallet-headed putter."

Several makers have their own particular brand of putters which they not unnaturally swear by. They refrain from booming any other kind.

All golfers tremble less or more when they get on the "green," because it is there that matches are lost or won. Some of the most famous golfers have been notably weak with their putters when, to the uninitiated, it looks the easiest thing in the world to get the ball down from a distance of two feet or thereabouts. But golfers will tell you it is not so easy as it looks, especially when suffering from the nervous complaint known as "ball fright." Travis, in his interview with the representative of the Daily Nitreo, said that British golfers were guilty of a debauchery of driving, forgetting that golf is played well "not by strength, but by art." He is the embodiment of art as a golfer, and does not trust unduly to long driving.

A well-known adage of the royal and ancient game runs, "Far and suire." Travis is more concerned with "sure" than "far."

He is not content on the green with "lying dead." He goes down at distances varying from fifteen to twenty-five yards. By a fluke any golfer may hole out at any distance, but when these "flukes" recur ten or a dozen times in thirty-six holes it becomes deliberate, skilful putting or approaching.

Travis aims at holing out, and generally succeeds, His novel putter enables him to accomplish this on the well-authenticated principle of

The most common form of putter.

"Never up, never in."

The makers of the "mallet putter," Messrs. Spalding, claim that the weight of the putter is concentrated in the shank, where it enters the base, and this enables the player to judge his stroke better, and also prevents the putter turning side-

An Ex-Champion's Views.

An ex-champion of the world was seen yester-day by a Mirror representative, and questioned on Travis's wonderful line play with his mallet-headed putter. He explained that the merit of the amateur champion's achievement in forcing he ball along a line at an even pace did not come about because Travis used a putter weighing 180x. 2dvt., nor because it was made with an aluminium head.

Zawt, nor occause it was made with an auminium head.

Travis would be equally artistic if he used any other style of putter or one made of other material.

The Hon. Reginald Brougham some fifteen years ago made a great display with a similar putter.

CHANNEL SWIM.

Offer of a British Trophy by the "Weekly Dispatch" Open Competition.

wimming, as a sport, is likely to receive a much-eded impetus from a scheme which is put for-rd by the proprietors of the "Weekly Dispatch." has been decided to offer a trophy for the suc-ful swimming of the English Channel.

at this season of the year only too often it is this season of the year only too often it is on how comparatively few English men and hen are able to swim. Holiday boating acci-is supply the painful proof. The interest which norting event of such magnitude as that pro-nd will arouse is likely to have a far-reaching it in inducing people who are unable to swim-emedy their deficiency, he beneficial effect also which the art of swim-g would have upon the national physique if it amore generally cultivated can hardly be over-mated. Doctors unanimously testify to its tadvantages.

Equal Cantain Webb

once has the wonderful feat of swimming unnel been accomplished, but the proprietors "Weedly Dispatch" feel confident that appain Webb succeeded others can succeed the consider that the average Driton to-liust as strong as was the Briton of Captain day; that the decline, if such there be, Britisher's physique is simply due to the training; and that at least one person can di nthe United Kingdom who is able, if sortunity is offered, to swim from Dover to

A cocked hat that once belonged to Lord Nelson was put up for auction at Stevens's yesterday, and fetched only £5 5s.

The hat was given by Lord Nelson to Mr. James Walker, who served on the Victory as sailing master, and afterwards lived and died at Aldeburgh, Suffolk.

fit to accomplish the task-that is, if he possess the necessary swimming experience, stamina, plucks, and energy—the "Weekly Dispatch" offers to pay the whole of his expenses whilst he goes through the necessary training—which will probably not be less than a period of twelve weeks: For a man to be thoroughly fit, he needs at least ten weeks' hard work with a first-class trainer.

Every Assistance Given.

While this is going on the "Weekly Dispatch" will pay the trainer's salary and other incidental expenses, and the candidate's wife and children, if he has any, will be supported, so that he need have no anxiety whatever.

Before the time arrives for the candidate to make the attempt, the "Weekly Dispatch" swimming experts will make an exhaustive examination of the tides, the winds, and the temperature of the sea, so that every piece of information will be offered. Special judges and referees will be appointed, and the necessary tugs and pilots will be supplied at the expense of the "Weekly Dispatch."

Before September 15.

The attempts to swim the Channel must be made on or before September 15 next. There is no danger to anybody. The "Weekly Dispatch" will see that there is no possibility of disaster overtaking the swimmers whilst they are in disaster oversaming use summittee water. Finally, it should be mentioned that the "Weekly Dispatch" trophy is the blue riband of the English aquatic season of 1904.

Intending competitors should communicate with the Aquatic Editor of the "Weekly Dispatch," 3, Tallis-street, London, E.C.

£5 5s. FOR NELSON'S HAT.

GOLF'S BLUE RIBAND.

Will Vardon, Last Year's Winner, Retain His Title Against Mr.

W. J. Travis?

The eyes of all golfers will be turned Sandwich way, to-day. There, on the famous St. George's Links, both amateurs and professionals will be competing for the highest honours obtainable in connection with the royal and ancient game. The connection with the royal and ancient game. The professional candidates number 126, and the amateurs eighteen. Included in the grand total of 144 are the present champions—Harry Vardon, who has won the "open" event on four occasions; and the American crack, Mr. W. J. Travis, who recently came and conquered in the championship confined to amateurs.

After the way in which Mr. Travis beat all his opponents at Sandwich last week, few, if any, of the experts will be surprised to see him add open championship honours to the laurels which he has already so worthlily won. If he succumb to the opposing forces, it will one more tend to show that a good match player is not necessarily the best man at the stroke game. But, in the field of players to-day, to-morrow, and Friday, there are many aspirants as keen as is Mr. Travis on winning, or as Harry Vardon on retaining, the title.

The Americans were all playing practice rounds title. The Americans were all playing practice rounds yesterday, but in view of the more serious work before them did not over-exert themselves; and, therefore, their failure to hold their own against formidable opponents need count for little. The scores returned by them for the initial round to-day will give a more likely clue.

champion, did not show his best form in a match against.
Affred Toogood, the West Essex professional. The American approach is the same to the same to holes up and 5 to play. Mr. Travis was quite off his plane.

By fine.

By fi

KING'S ROYAL VISITOR.

Archduke Frederick of Austria will arrive at Archluke Frederick of Austria will arrive at Victoria at five o'clock this afternoon.

The aged Emperor of Austria found it impossible to personally return King Edward's visit of last year, and the Archduke comes to London as his representative. He brings with him a field-marshal's baton, presented by the Emperor Joseph to King Edward.

Sir F. Plunkett, the British Ambassador in Vienna, and Lady and Miss Plunkett, accompany the Archduke.

The Prince of Wales will receive the royal visitor at Victoria Station, and he will be escorted by Life Guards to Buckingham Palace. The Archduke Teturns to Vienna next Sunday. A portrait of the Archduke Frederick appears on page 8.

A HARD CRANIUM.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

VIENNA, Monday

FROM THE LINKS.

Glorious weather prevailed at Sandwich yesterday, when many of the entrants for the open championship, which begins to-day, turned out for the final practice rounds. There was, however, a strong wind, which the work of the control of the strong wind, which the work of the control of the strong wind, which the work of the wo

THE "DAILY MIRROR" FOUNTAIN PEN is exquisitely chased, has two gold bands, guaranteed 14c. plated gold nib, and is made of the best vulcanite.

GRASP THIS OPPORTUNITY! IT CANNOT LAST LONG!!

A Fountain Pen for 2/6

The Proprietors of the "Daily Mirror" are pleased to announce that by an exceptional business opportunity they have been able to secure a small parcel of HIGH-CLASS FOUNTAIN PENS. There is no necessity to describe a Fountain Pen. Everyone has seen these valuable little vulcanite cylinders. There is no commercial or professional man who should be without the ever-ready Pen. In a very short space of time you will be unable to procure one of the "Daily Mirror" high-class

FOUNTAIN PENS

The reason is obvious—the price is only Two Shillings and Sixpence. This unique opportunity of procuring one of the most useful possessions a man can have will be withdrawn as soon as the consignment of pens—which amounts to less than one-thirtieth of the "Daily Mirror" readers—shall have been delivered.

YOU MAY PURCHASE the pen at the West End Office for Small Advertisements of the "Daily Mirror," 45, New Bond Street, W. The
'DAILY MIRROR'
FOUNTAIN PEN
in 3 sizes of Pen Nibs, FINE, MEDIUM,

BROAD.

State Plainly on Coupon which style you prefer.

CUT OUT THIS COUPON, fill in, and post to

PEN DEPARTMENT, The "Daily Mirror,"

2, Carmelite Street, London E.C.

I enclose P.O. for 2s. 7½d., for which please send "D.M." Fountain Pen to

NAME

Address

NIR

No. 2.

No. 2.

HORNER'S WEEKLY

On Sale Everywhere To-day, Wednesday.

HORNER'S WEEKLY PENSION SCHEME is creating a great deal of interest. No other paper has ever offered to pay pensions of tenshillings a week to widows of readers killed in accidents of all kinds. The conditions are very simple. Buy HORNER'S WEEKLY every week and thus obtain the benefit of this splendid accident insurance and at the same time secure a good paper for your home.

HORNER'S WEEKLY

No. 2. NOW ON SALE. No. 2.

SPORT AT LINGFIELD. MODERATE

Brilliant Weather Serves the General Enjoyment-Egyptian Beauty Wins the Two-year-old Race.

PROFESSIONAL VERSUS AMATEUR JOCKEYS.

If would be impossible in all broad England to find a more picturesque racing rendezvous than Lingfield Park, and in the summer weather which vered this lovely district with sunshine yesterday wered this lovely district with sunshine yesterday more enjoyable meeting could be visited. The attendance was excellent, much above the erage in every department, although there was thing of prime importance in the matter of ing. The chief item on the programme—the ring Two-Vear-Old Selling Plate—saw twenty-see coloured on the card, but only five youngsters et the starter, and of these Egyptian Beauty sonsidered such a certainty that odds of 9 to 4 re laid on. The favourite won in a canter, and a afterwards bought in for 330 guineas.

Moderate Lot.

Moderate Lot.

is most valuable race of the half-dozen coming the entertainment attracted the smallest. The High Class Selling Handicap of 300 belied its title, inasmuch as it brought out a moderate lot, and, as not unusual in similar, the race resulted in a complete surprise. Favourite, Albynes, the well-backed Ladducket, and the Ceriblo imped the wrong way when the er was raised, and an outsider, Belle Saville, and and the course of a lady who is better and the course of a lady who is better on as Mrs. Langtry, and who was among the status graced the members' lawn. Sie Brown, a daughter of Melton—Brown had little claim to consideration except in the moderate of company, but she proved good god to with the Maider Infrae-Year-Old Plate the more fancied Lapsa filly, Sakubona, and Jany. It seemed in the early stages of the race Lapsa filly held the winning hand, but she unable to hold the lead beyond the distance, a Bessie Brown drew up on the stand side and yd determined the issue. The Club Welter led an example of the superiority of profession of the province of the superiority of profession of the province of the superiority of profession of the province of the superiority. Cossaek Pasi, sockeyshap to a moderate type which had led chief distinction under National Hunt. M. Cannon made all the running on Frot, and readily beat Cossaek Post, about whom money had been taken by people who calcuttey were betting on a certainty. Cossaek ran wide at the turn into the straight, so did Shipton colt, and Miss Cronkhill, who y shows her best form over this course, could on nearer than third.

Merny's well-known on the Merny's well-known on E Form Upset.

Merry's well-known colours were displayed.

Merry's well-known colours were displayed.

Weir Courtenay Plate on Barnassie, a filly had run well at Brighton. The favourite was alus. He ran in bilinkers, and mere bookwas altogether upset. Stray Moments becaesond in the maket, but there was plenty of cy for others, among the supported contingent. Transfer, who was backed personally by the specific property of the stray of the supported contingent. Stray Moments led for a little way, but Barel had the game to herself in the last quarter—so much so that Madden, on Romitus, not by any means put in his usual strenuous had criticism. Yet Barnassie scored so smoothly she must be accounted decidedly the superior, the pseudonym of "Mr. Hanover," covers the range of the superior, which were supported by associated with racing. The colours are and blue chevrons, "—not rose and primrose and but the support of the support

TO-DAY'S SELECTIONS.

LINGFIELD. Ford Manor Plate—CHICORY.
Godstone T.Y.O. Selling

C. —Imperial Plate—The Warrior.
—Oxted Selling Handicap—Arabi.
—Grange Handicap—Bridal.
—Eden Welter Handicap—Frobisher.

SPECIAL SELECTION. THE WARRIOR.

LINCOLN.

0.—Monson Plate—VA VE. 0.—Ashley Plate—Nell Gwynne. GREY FRIARS.

THE TWO BEST THINGS.

2. 0.—Monson Plate—VA VE. 4.30.—Kesteven Plate—LANFINE."

RACING RETURNS.

LINGFIELD .- TUESDAY.

2.0.—MAIDEN THREE-YEAR-OLD PLATE of 105 sors.
Mr. J. Masker's BESSIE BROWN, by Melton-Brown
Bess, 5st 11b.
Mr. J. S. Marker's BESSIE BROWN, by Melton-Brown
Bess, 5st 11b.
Mr. J. S. Curtis SAKUBONA, 9st 7b.
Mr. J. S. Curtis SAKUBONA, 9st 7b.
Mr. J. S. Curtis SAKUBONA, 9st 7b.
Mr. J. S. Marker S. F. W. Grand F. W. Marker S. M. J.
Mr. J. S. Marker S. F. W. Grand F. W. Marker S. M. S. Marker S. M. Marker S. Marker S. M. Marker S. Marker S. M. Marker S. Marker S. M. Marker S. Marker S. M. Marker S. Mark

Also ran: Gentle Ida c (9st), Myrrh c (9st), Bank Rate (9st), Gold Yeather (8st 515), Anis (8st 51b), Miss 177 (9st 111b).

Batting—3 to I agat the Lapas filly, 4 to I acad Bessis Bank Rate (19st 111b).

Batting—1 to I agat the Lapas filly, 4 to I acad Bessis Bank Rate (19st 111b).

Batting—1 to I agat the Lapas filly, 4 to I acad Bessis Myrrh coll to I agat the Lapas filly, 4 to I acad Bessis Myrrh coll to I agat the Lapas filly, 4 to I acad Bessis Myrrh coll to I agat the Lapas filly, 4 to I acad Bessis Myrrh coll to I agat the Lapas filly, 4 to I acad Bessis Myrrh coll to I agat the Lapas filly, 4 to I acad Bessis Myrrh coll to I agat the Lapas filly, 4 to I acad Bessis Myrrh coll to I acad Bessis Myrrh Choir, 3 to I acad Bessis Myrrh Myrrh Choir Myrrh Choir, 4 to I acad Bessis Myrrh Myrrh Choir Myrrh Choir, 4 to I acad Myrrh Choir Myrrh C

Also ran: Currachmore (GTR, 124; 71b), Rainfall (GTR, 124), Thuca (GTR, 104; 11b), Molly Shipton (STR, 104; 41b).

(Winner trained by Bakea)

Betting—Even an Oosanck Out, $ 50 i agat Molly Shipton (STR, 104; 41b).

(Winner trained by Bakea)

Betting—Even an Oosanck Out, $ 50 i agat Molly Shipton (STR, 104; 41b).

(Authority of the Street of the Stree

LINCOLN .- TUESDAY.

LINCOLIN.—I TUESDAY.

2.0.—BURTON SELLING PLATE of 100 sove; winner to be sold for 50 sove. Six furlongs, straight. Duke of Devochier's PAM, by Jinglass—Pamella, 3yrs. 60, 910 mm. F. E. Hunt MOST EXCHLENT, assol. 61 vol. 61 mm. F. E. Hunt MOST EXCHLENT, assol. 61 vol. 61 mm. F. E. Hunt MOST EXCHLENT, assol. 61 vol. 61 mm. F. E. Hunt MOST EXCHLENT, assol. 61 vol. 62 mm. F. E. Hunt MOST EXCHLENT, assol. 61 vol. 63 mm. F. E. Hunt MOST EXCHLENT, assol. 61 vol. 64 mm. 71 vol. 64 vol. 64 half; two lengths between the accord and third. The winner was soid M. K. W. Smills for 250 guiness.

2.35-BRAYFORD AND SONS, for two-year-olds. Mr. I. E. B. RAMPOR M. Sold Sons, for two-year-olds. Mr. I. E. B. Rama's MEADOW MUSIC, by Sainfoins-Rondo, 5st 7b.

Rondo, 5st 7b.

Winner trained by Walter E. Wheatley 3 (Winner trained by Walter E. Wheatley 5 (Winner trained by Walter E. Wheatley 5 (Winner trained by Walter E. Wheatley 5 (Winner trained by Walter E. D. Land M. N. C. Occhour a POST KARTE, 9st 30 (Winner trained by Walter E. D. Land M. Seven ran. Betting—For more property of the Straight Mile.

1.0.—LINDUM HANDICAP PLATE of 250 cvn. The Mr. Ernett Dreedon's FLECURSTTE II. by Florized III. Colonal E. W. Baird's MARTABAN, Gyra, 5st 1110 (Winner trained by Archer) (Winner trained by Archer) (Winner trained by Archer) (Winner trained by Archer) (The Walter E. Martines F. D. 1 aget The Dell'), 7 to 1 Florizette II., 10 to 1 Martaban. Work by two lengths; bar 455-mining JUVENILE ELLLING PLATE of 100

3.45.-MINTING JUVENILE SELLING PLATE of 100 soys, for two-year-olds; winner to be sold for 50 soys,

Mr. W. H. Moore's F by BURNABN-GUM ARABIG, 74 121b ... Legal files and the state of the state of Sea Log. 7 to 1 Nahlband, 10 to 1 each Electric Current and Renzo. 100 to 8 any other. Won by two lengths; three lengths between the second and third. Mr. A. F. Green & MindS. 5075 Set The Wheatiey 2

Two ran, Betting-11 to 4 on Bellivor Tor. Won by six

POINTERS FROM THE BOOK.

Another interesting day's sport should be witnessed at Lingfield to-day. If "form" goes for anything the following should run well:—

nything the following should that well-mynthing the following should be a considered that the should be sh

TO-DAY'S PROGRAMMES.

LINGFIELD PARK.

2.0-FORD MANOR PLATE of 103 sovs. One mile, yrs st 1b
Mr. W. M. G. Singer's HopetounA. Taylor 5 9 3
Mr Brutton's Miss Gronkhill
Mr. T. E. Liddiard's ChicoryLowe 3 7 4
ABOVE ARRIVED.
Major J. D. Edwards's Shaun RhuOwner 6 9 3
Mr. A. T. W. Henshaw's St. Phocas Stapley 4 8 2
Ma P G Conar's Arrowflight
Duke of Devonshire's Laurei CrownGoodwin 3 7 4
Duke of Doutland's St Primes Porter 5 7 4
Mr. W. G. Stevens's Neyland Owner 3 7 4
Mr. H. Charlesworth's Mon Ange R. I'Anson 3 7 1
Mr. H. Charlesworth's Mon Ange R. I'Anson 3 7 1 Mr. R. Lucas's Wild Aster PAPER SELECTIONS Chilton's Guide-Chicory or Neyland. Jockey-Chicory. Racehorse-Chicory. Diamond Journal St Primus

2.30 GOBTONE TWO-YEAR-OLD SELLING PLATE of 103 sors; winner to be soid for 100 rows.
Fig furlose, Mr. T. Corn's Crabtee.
Mr. T. Corn's Crabtee.
Sir R. Waldle Griffith's St. Hilary R. Sherwood 9
Lord Howard de Walden's Ladle Reatty 9
Unr. S. Lyate's Arcadic.
Owner 9

Jockey-Ladle or Last Crown. Racehorse-Last Crown. Sporting World-Mattle.

3.0 - SIXTH IMPERIAL PLATE of 1200 sovs (100 sovs to the state of the stat

Lord Clonnell's Armos R. Sherwood 8 e Str R. Waldle Griffith's Queen Beauty R. Sherwood 8 e Str R. Waldle Griffith's Open Beauty R. Sherwood 8 e Waldle Griffith's Open Realty R. Sherwood 8 e Waldle Griffith's Open Realty R. Sherwood 8 e Waldle Griffith's Open Realty R. Waldle Griffith's Open Realty R. Waldle Griffith's Realty Rea

3.10-OXTED SELLING HANDICAP of 100 sov winner to be sold for 50 sovs. Five furlong

Mr. R. Gores Desce
Mr. A. Stefall's Arghi.
Mr. R. Stefall's Arghi.
Mr. R. S. Rowwell's Ban News
Mr. R. S. Rowwell's Ban News
Mr. R. Conrage's I by Juggler-Melands . Robson
Mr. D. J. Pallinger's Lady Don.
Mr. M. Manner
Mr. D. W. Clarke's American Bridge . Private
Mr. D. W. Clarke's American Bridge . Private
Mr. R. Wright's Chicane . Private
Mr. R. Wright's Chicane . Mr. Mr. Gore
Gopt. Berenke's I by Estimati-Cal. Powney

Mr. W. Dawirey's Pendulum J. Powney
Mr. Reid Walker's Carthenope Hassail
Mr. C. J. Merry's Donorina Bysaime
Mr. J. Powney's Jongleur Monta Athou Seator
Lord Howard de Walden's Mount Athou Seator
Major H. Caversham-Simon's Master Caversham

Mr. B. S. Straus's Edicius W. Stevens
Mr. W. H. Schwind's Hackenschmidt (late Weicome King Edward
Mr. T. Worton's Eppling Green Owner
Mr. T. Worton's Eppling Green Owner
Mr. W. Low's Chatsway Pickering
ABOVE ARRIVED. Mr. J. Sloncombe's Out o' Sight . E. Hunt Mr. J. R. A. Markahila Poppits . Clements Mr. H. H. A. Markahila Poppits . Clements Mr. H. Henyman's Broadway . S. Smith Mr. E. Henyman's Broadway . S. Smith Mr. E. J. Percy's Val Vopit . Rakin Mr. E. J. Percy's Val Vopit . Rakin Mr. E. J. Percy's ble o' Man . Rakin Dord Howard de Walden's Gallymawtry . Beatty Lord Howard de Walden's Gallymawtry . Beatty Lord Howard de Walden's Marczzo . Beatty Lord Howard de Walden's Marczzo . Beatty Lord Howard de Walden's Marczo . Beatty Lord Howard on . Beatty . Lord Mr. J. Router State . Development . Percy Mr. J. S. Cutti's Chuckant . Whitfield Mr. J. S. Cutti's Chuckant . Whitfield PAPER SELLECTIONS . Chilton's Guide-Hack

2.0-MONSON PLATE of 106 sovs (a High-weight Handicap). Six furlongs, straight.

PAPER SELECTIONS.—Sporting World—Complimen Racehorse—Compliment. Jockey—Nippon or Corunna. Chi ton's Guide—Felo de Se or Compliment. Diamond Journal-Uncle Marcus.

2.30-STONEBOW SELLING HANDICAP PLATE of furlongs straight.

3.0-ASHLEY PLATE of 106 covs. for two-year-olds maidens at the time of entry. Five furlows aight.

at the time of entry. Five description

des Semione c 0 10 Oblishment Curies w. 0 10 Lady McKell Lady McKell Lady McKell Semioner Course with the control of the course of t

3.30-WITHAM SELLING PLATE of 105 sovs; winne to be sold for 50 sovs. The Straight Mile.

| The Straight A | The

aMarmion - 4 5 5

4.0 - 87. HUGH PLATE (High-weight Handica Plate)

4.1 - 87. HUGH PLATE (High-weight Handica Plate)

4.1 - 87. HUGH PLATE (High-weight Handica Plate)

4.1 - 87. Mazzaroth 5. Andreas Perrara 6 8 13 North Deighton 5. Ancaster 4 8 9 Induction 5. Induction 5. Rilligrew 3 8 3 Apelles Stringer 5. Applies 5.

Owston Wood ... 4 6 1 Chataway

PAPER SELECTIONS.—Sporting World-Anc
Airship. Racehorse—Andrea Ferrara. Jockeyor North Deighton. Chilton's Guide—Aralia.
Journal—Ancaster.

4 30 - KESTEVEN MAIDEN FLATE of 100 guiness.

One mile and three furlogs.

Batssoon 4 5 15

Butterwort 5 8 12

Haspecked 3 8 10

Haspecked 3 8 10

Black Gean 4 8 10

Black Gean 4 8 10

Florest Flower 4 8 7 1

Landin 3 7 7 2

Landin 3 7 7 2

Rothan 3 7 7 4

Rothan 3 7 7 8

Rothan 3 7 8 Hotherwork
Honpecked Perfection
Black Gean
Forest Flower
A Landine
Blue Vinny
Lucid
a Portman
a Intrepid

PAPER SELECTIONS.—Sporting World—Perfection Racehorse—Lucid. Jockey—Basson. Chilton's Guide—Lan fine. Diamond Journal—Lucid.

LATEST BETTING.

ROVAL HUNT CUP.

0 run out

SURREY BOWLING COLLARED

Jackson and Rhodes Both Score Centuries at Bradford-Splendid Hitting.

Yorkshire batted in fine style against Surrey at Bradford yesterday, and with Jackson and Rhodes both scoring centuries they had much the best of the day's play.

Rhodes's innings was as fine a piece of hitting as has been seen at Bradford for a long time.

At the close Yorkshire, with three wickets in hand, were 410 runs to the good.

Present score and analysis:-

	SHIRE.
First Innings,	Second Innings.
Strudwick b Lees 0	b Lees15
H. Wilkinson, c Harward b Gooder	b Lees
Grimshaw, b Lees 9 Hirst, b Lees 20	c Abel b Lees 4
Rhodes, lbw b Smith 21 Myers, c Strudwick b Gooder	c Strudwick b Lees10
Haigh, b Lees 22 Ringrose, b Smith 0 Hunter, not out 0
Extras 10	Extras 1
Total139	Total (7 wkts)39
SUR	REY.
Hayward, c Ringrose b Hirst 31 Holland, b Ringrose 4 Hayes, c Denton b Jack	Lees, c Tunnicliffe b Ringrose

Abel, b Hirst 17 Abel, b Hirst 18 Leveson-Gower, b Rhodes 16 H. B. Chinnery, c Hunter b Huigh 23 Gooder, c Rhodes, b	Smith, c Ringrose b Hirst 5 Strudwick, not out 0 Extras 6 Total 127
YORKSHIRE 0. m. r. w. 26,5 10 54 5	Lockwood . 8 2 41 1
Gooder 16 8 32 2 Smith 2 0 2 2 Lees bowled a wide. SURREY.—First Innings. Hirst 26.5 8 52 5 Haigh 6 2 18 1
Ringrose 18 6 41 2 Jackson 10 6 8 1 Ringrose bowle

WARWICK GOING AHEAD.

The Warwitch Guine and the Country of the Warwickshire batsmen were seen to great advantage at Edgbaston yesterday, and before stumps were drawn secured such an advantage over Essex as should go a long way towards winning the match.

Present score and analysis	Control of the Contro
ESSEX.
Carpenter, c Byrne b Quaife Sewell, c Fishwick b Quaife Quaife O. McGahey, c Lilley b Hargreave C Dossetti, c Lilley b Rossetti, c Lill	J. W. H. T. Douglas, lbw b Hargreave 1 Buckenham c Lilley b Whittle 4 Read, st Lilley b Moorhouse 22 Tremlin, not out 5 Extras 5 Total 336

Reeves, c Lilley b Quaife 15 Russell (E.), run out 43	Total336
WARWIC	KSHIRE.
Fishwick, b McGahey . 21 Kinneir, b Read . 52 Hargreage, lbw b Trem- lin . 23 A. C. S. Glover, b Sewell 69 Quaife, not, out 178	Lilley, c and b Sewell. 81 Charlesworth, b Reeves. 10 Whittle, not out
Moorhouse and Santall to b	Total (7 wkts)532

		rst Innings,
Moorhouse	o. m. r. w. 37 13 74 2 21.3 4 89 2 16 3 55 1	Quaife 2	0. m 84 5 10 2	83 4

DERBYSHIRE'S COLLAPSE.

Derbyshire failed badly in batting at Brighton yes-terday, and only just escaped defeat in two days, stumps being drawn when they had eight men out after following on and were still 132 rms behind. Pretent score and analysis:—

SUSS	SEX.
C. B. Fry, c Humphreys b Cadman	Cox, b Curgenven 26 Seymour, not out 26 Leach, c Needham b Cadman 14 Tate, c Humphreys b Cadman 5 Extras 20
Butt, c Needham b War- ren	Total425
DERBY	SHIRE.
L. G. Wright, st Butt	Second Innings.

DERBYSHIRE.
First Innings.	Second Innings,
L. G. Wright, st Butt
b Leach 57	b Leach 10
C. A. Ollivierre, b Cox 6	b Cox 31
Storer, b Tate 29	c and b Relf 7
E. M. Ashcroft, c Fry b
Cox 1	not out 37
G. Curgenven, c and b
Tate 7	b Relf 12
Needham, c Relf b Cox 0	c Cox b Relf 1
Morton, & Cox b Leach, 17	b Relf 3 b Cox 3
Warren, c and b Leach.; 0
Humphries, b Leach 0	not out 4
Cadman, c Butt b Relf 25	c Vine b Relf 6.
Bestwick, not out 0
Extras 6	Extras 7
TO SECURE A
Total152	Total (8 wkts)121

and se	BOWLING ANALYSIS	4
The Report	SUSSEXFirst Innings.	1 1000
	o. m. r. w. o. m.	r. w.
Bestwick	28 4 93 0 Storer 6 0	18 0
Cadman	44.1 13 92 4 Curgenven 12 1	32 5
Warren	42.5 1 69 3 Morton 1 0	10
Bestwick	bowled three and Warren four no-balls
	DERBYSHIREFirst Innings.	(Application)
Relf	9.1 1 19 1 Leach 6 2	18 4
Cox	21 5 51 3 Tate 18 I	58 2

GREAT FEAT BY SEYMOUR.

As was the case on Monday, the outstanding feature of esterday's cricket at Maidstone was the magnificent atting of Seymour, who carned the distinction of being the first Kentish batsman to score two reparate hundreds the same match. He went in in his county's second the same match. He went in in his county's second the same match.

innings first wicket down at $2, and when the ninth mm was out, at 173, his proportion was 70 only, and there was out, at 173, his proportion was 70 only, and there for him to make the other 30 innings lasting long enough for him to make the other 30 innings lasting long enough for him to make the other 30 innings lasting long enough for him to make the other 30 innings lasting l

	KI	ENT.	B
ce of hitting	First Innings.	Second Innings.	No
g time.	Hearne, c Wheldon b		100
1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1	Arnold 8	c Bowley b Burrows 21	350
e wickets in	Humphreys, b Arnold 21	c Bowley b Burrows 23
	Seymour, c Bromley b Bird108	not out136
	S. H. Day, c Arnold b	100 000
	Burrows 66	b Burrows 0	pe
	L. Baker, c and b Bur-	c Simpson-Hayward, b	pr
	rows	Bird 10	ve
Innings.	Huish, b Arnold 10	b Bird 6	ha
	Penn, b Arnold 3 Fairservice, b Bird 2	c Bowley b Arnold 20	-
158	C. H. B. Marsham. c	b Arnold 3	200
	Wheldon b Burrows 20	b Wilson 9	PS
8	Blythe, b Arnold 2	b Wilson 6	P. S ees 42	A CONTRACTOR OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY OF	c Burns b Bromley-	J.
es 6	Fielder, not out 0	Martin 37	SAN
45	Extras 14	Extras 5	L.
b Lees107	matal pro	-	0
AND ADDRESS.	Total256	Total276	G.
17	WORCEST	ERSHIRE.	H.
	Bowley, c Huish, b
			R.
13	Pearson, b Fielder 69	H. K. Foster, h Blythe 20	100
	Bromley - Martin, b	H. K. Foster, b Blythe 20 Bird, b Hearne 26 Wilson, c Seymour b	K.
1 (7 wkts)398	Fielder 11	Wilson, c Seymour b	H.
	Wheldon, c Fairservice b	Fielder 1	J.
	Burns a and h Pluthe 7	Fielder 1 Burrows, not out 4 Extras 13
nnicliffe b	Arnold c Huich b Bluthe 1	Extras	C.
Wilkinson b	2000	Total158	20
WIIKIIISUII U			H.
lingrose b.		ANALYSIS.	235
5	KENTFit	rst Innings.	C.
ot out 0	o. m. r. w.	0. m. r. w.
6	Simpson- Hayward 5 0 20 0	Bird 19 8 22 3 Pearson 1 0 6 0
1127	Wilson 13 1 46 0	Burrows 14 0 66 2
1	Arnold 30.2 7 81 5	Dillions 14	200
	Pearson box	wled a wide.	Ca
	Second	Innings.
Service Control	Arnold 24 2 78 2	Bird 12 4 23 2	A.
o. m. r. w.	Burrows 27 4 99 3	Hayward 1 0 20	A.
8 2 41 1 1	Wilson 17 5 58 2	Martin 1 0 11 1	B.
2 0 22	Arnold bowl	ied a no-ball.	1
CYCLE TO SECUL	WORCESTERSHIR Fielder 32.4 9 66 0 Blythe 33 11 60 3	EFirst Innings.	Lo
0 0 10 1	Fielder 32.4 9 66 0	Fairservice 5 3 5 0	F.
6 2 18 1	Diythe, 55 11 60 3	led four no-balls.	23
2 2 1	Fielder bow.	ied four no bens.	100

NOTTS BEAT GLOUCESTER.

Gloucestershire failed to recover the ground they lost on the opening day of their match with Notts at Glouces-ter, and were beaten yesterday by eight wickets. Full score and analysis :-

GLOUCESTERSHIRE.
First Innings.		Second Innings.
E. A. Barnett, b Wass	27	c Jones b Gunn	6
Wrathall, b J. Gunn	. 0	b Wass	. 0
Langdon, b J. Gunn	4	c Oates b Wass	14
R. T. Godsell, c Oates b	-	1	-00
Wass	7	c Jones b Wass c Hallam b Gunn	76
Hale, c Oates b J. Gunn F. E. Thomas, c Ire-	0	c Hallam b Gunn	10
monger b J. Gunn	2	b Wass	30
Spry. b. J. Gunn	14	c Jones b Gunn	2
Board, not out	29	c Iremonger b Gunn	8
G. L. Jessop, c Hallam
b J. Gunn	29	b Wass	10
Huggins, c Jones b J.	- 199	1 11	5
Gunn	0	c Oates b Wass	-
Dennett, c Hemingway b Wass	1	not out	0
Extras	8	Extras	4
	000	THE RESERVE OF THE PARTY OF THE	-
Total	121	Total	177
	NOT	pma
First Innings.	NOI	Second Innings.
A. O. Jones, c Dennett		Second Innings.
Huggins	17	c Board b Thomas	59
lremonger, b Huggins	0	c Barnett b Dennett	14
Gunn (J.), c Hale b
Hugaina			30

Gunn J., c Hale b Huggins 95 not out 39 Anthony, c Barnett b Dennett 0 not out 10

4

nett	35
impson, b Jessop 14	18
ardstaffe, c Hale b	0
Huggins 0 ates, st Board b Hug-	1
gins 0	10
allam, not out 5	1
7ass, c Langdon b Den-
nett	10
Extras 4 Extras 13	1
	1
Total167 Total (2 wkts)135	1 7
BOWLING ANALYSIS.	333
GLOUCESTERSHIPE First Innings.	1
	10
Vass 27.5 12 40 3 Gunn (J.) 27 4 77 7	13
Gunn bowled one no-ball.	10
Second Innings	1
Vass 33.4 9 68 6 Anthony 6 1 14 0	12
unn 29 10 66 4 Jones 2 0 9 0	1 3
lallam 11 5 16 0 Simpson 1 1 0 0	1
NortsFirst Innings.	1
Inggins 20 5 76 b Jessop 9 5 11 2	18
lennett 17.3 0 58 3 Spry 4 1 18 0	12
Second Innings,	HTE
Inggins 15 4 49 0 Spry 3 0 13 0	1
Dennett 14.4 1 46 1 Thomas 3 0 14 1	1 2
	1

HEAVY SCORING AT BATH.

John Tyldesley, the famous Lancashire professional, added another to his long list of batting triumphs at Bath yesterday, playing a remarkable innings of 210. Going in overnight first wicket down at 77, he had scored 85, the Lancashire total-then being 162 for three wickets. He was not dismissed yesterday until the score was 418,

He was not dismissed yesterday and the score was 310, being the cighth man out.

Somerset, with nine wickets in hand, require 72 to avoid an innings defeat.

Present score and analysis

SOMERS	ETSHIRE.
M. J. Woods, b Brear-	F. M. Lee, c Worsley b
ley	Cuttell 43
Braund, b Brearley 5
Lewis, c Hallows b Brear-	H. Poyntz, c Worsley b
ley	Cuttell
Brearley 17	Cranfield, b Hallows 15
lajor W. C. Hedley, b	North, not out 18 /
Hallows 4	Extras 8
obson, b Hallows 1
The state of the s	Total232

	LANCASHIRE.	1
		13
	b Braund 47 A. H. Hornby, c Palairet	C.
	B. H. Spooner, c Lee b b Cranfield	R
	Cranfield 26 Cuttell, not out 69	I
	Tyldesley, c Lewis b Rob- W. Brearley, c Braund b	E son	8.
	H. G. Garnett, c Hedley Worsley, c Hedley b
g	b Palairet 20 Woods 7	E
	L. Poidevin, c North b Extras 19	1
	Cranfield 8	F.
	Hallows, b Braund 44 Total482	H
3	BOWLING ANALYSIS.	22
R	SOMERSETSHIRE.—First Innings.	F.
Ē	o. m. r. w. o. m. r. w.	1
2		F
Ē	Hallows 29.5 9 60 3 Sharp 1 0 3 0	M
9	LANCASHIRE,-First Innings.	100
3	Cranfield 32 3 154 4 Palairet 10 1 41 1	P
ĕ	Braund 26 3 127 3 Hedley 5 0 9 0	150
9	Robson 17 5 48 1 Woods 5 0 28 1	100
ø	Robson 17 5 48 1 Woods 5 0 28 1 North 10 2 48 0 Lewis 1 0 8 0	200
1		Ed.
ž		100

AMATEURS AT LORD'S.

Despite the loss of time incurred, owing to the sunsion of play while Mr. Warner's wedding was gress, a good deal was done in this match at Lord sterday. At the close I. Zingari, requiring 395 to wid all their wickets to fall.

GENTLEMEN	OF ENGLAND.
First Innings.	Second Innings,
J. E. Raphael, b Bosan-
quet	lbw b Hartley 33
L. J. Moon, c Mordaunt
b Cunliffe162 G. W. Beldam, c Newton	b Steel 39
b Mordaunt 18	b Bosanquet 36
H. H. Marriott, st New-	b bosanquet 30
ton b Bosanquet 3	b Bosanquet 11
R. W. Nicholls, lbw b
Bosanquet 7	st Newton b Mordaunt 0
K, J. Key, not out 38	c Heseltine b Steel 52
H. F. Montgomery, b	h Washing To
J. A. Berners, c Wynyard	b Heseltine 39
b Bosanquet 4	c Lucas b Bosanquet 50
C. J. Kortright, b Bosan-	o managed oo
_ quet 7	c Hartley b Heseltine 3
H. Hesketh-Prichard, b
Cunliffe 2	not out 5
C. Headlam, b Bosanquet 4 Extras 12	lbw b Bosanquet 11
Extras 12	Extras 40
Total267	Total319
, I ZII	NGARI.
Capt. E. G. Wynyard c	1 E E Steel h Prichard 11
Moon, b Montgomery 45	E. C. Mordaunt, b Kort-

Total267	Total319
, I ZIN	I ZINGARI.
Moon, b Montgomery. 45 A. P. Lucas, c Marriott b Prichard 4 A. J. L. Hill, b Prichard 0 B. J. T. Bosanquet, b Prichard 4 Lord Hawke, b Kortright 45 F. H. E. Cunliffe, b	right 5 A. E. Newton, b Kort- right J. U. Hartley, not out 15 C. Heseltine, absent 0 Extras 23
Prichard	Total175

	B	OWL	ING	ANALYSIS.
	GE	TLES	EN	First Innings.
7	D.				0.	m.	r. 1		8
Bosanquet	25.5	2	33 7	Cunliffe	16	2	58		8
Mordaunt	6	6	0 0	Hill	2 7	0		0	100
anordaunt			10 1	Steeld two no-balls.	1	1	16	U	п
	Cur								10
Bosanquet	21 2	4	SB G	Innings.	17	-	63	0	f
Cunline	. 8	0	58 0	Mordaunt	8	1	34
Hartley	16	4 6	18 1	Heseltine	10	i	28		13
Bosanquet	bowles	1 four	wid	es and Cunliffe	two r	10-b	alls.
	1.	ZING	RI.	First Innings.
Prichard	18	4 6	5 5	Kortright	13.2	5	36	3	100
Beldam	9	0 3	56 0	Montgomery	4	0	15	1

CENTURIES AT THE PALACE.

Some more bright batting was witnessed in the match at the Crystal Palace, between London County and Leicester, Wood and Knight both exceeding the hundred. At the close, with all their wickets to fall, London County required 180 runs to save the innings defeat.

efeat. Present score and analysis:-

LONDON	COUNTY.
W. G. Grace, c. White-	J. Gilman, b King 24
W. L. Murdoch, c R.	R. M. Bell, c Wood b
Crawford b King 74	Mead, b Allsopp 4
L. Walker, c Whiteside b	Richardson, c Odell b
H. H. Burton, c White-	Ball, not out 4
rott, b Allsopp 22 Trott, b Allsopp 15	Extras 10
T. B. Nicholson, b	Total243
Allsopp 1
Second InningsW. G. Gr	ace (not out) 18. Burton (not out) 36 extras 1; total (for no wkt) 55

LEICESTERSHIRE

C. E. De Trafford, c	R. T. Crawford, b Bell 2
Nicholson b Richard-	King, run out 43
son 10	Coe, b Mead 51
C. J. B. Wood, c Walker	W. W. Odell, c and b
b Trott110	Trott 3
Knight, c Trott b Mead140
V. F. S. Crawford, b	Whiteside, b Trott 4
Trott 29	Extras 10
Whitehead, c Bell b
Mead 60	Total485

11	24 3	T W.	R. T.	0.	m.	rw	- llsopp	29	63 4			2	22	0
dell	8 2	29 0	Coe	6	1	11
night	3 (32
			red 2 no-
ichardson .	LEIUES	PERSHIR	EFirst	Innings.	0	30	0
rott	43.5 1	1 169 4	Bell	12	0	54
fead

COLONIALS OUTPLAY CANTABS.

Though their batting again showed some mark inequalities, the South Africaus had the best of t day's cricket at Cambridge yesterday, and left off we every prospect of gaining a victory, the Varsity, whalf their wickets down, still requiring 165 runs to wi Present score and analysis:—

	SOUTH	AFRICANS
	First Innings.	Second Innings.
	J. H. Sinclair, c Phillips b Keigwin 50	c Keigwin b May 46
	W. A Shalders, c Payne b Keigwin 28	c McDonell b Mann 0
	M. Hathorn, c Harris b
	F. Mitchell, b McDonell . 22
		st Payne b McDonell 0
	G. H. Shepstone, c and b Hopley 46	bw b McDonell 22
	S. J. Snooke, b May	b Hopley 3
ı	E. A. Halliwell, b Hop-
	J. Kotze, c Hopley b	c and b McDonell 12
	Keigwin 2	lbw b McDonell 14
	J. Middleton, not out 6 Extras
	Total216	Total246

13	F. B. Wilson, c Mitchell
82	b Kotze 40 c Sinclair b Kotze 14
	H. C. McDonell, c Snooke
	b Middleton 58 not out 23
	F. J. V. Hopley, c Sin-
w.	clair b Middleton 31
3	F. B. Roberts, b Kotze 0
0	M. W. Payne, c Mitchelt
	b Middleton 9
1	P. R. May, not out 11
0	Extras 20 Extras 7
1
0	Total197 Total (5 wkts)101
	BOWLING ANALYSIS.
100	SOUTH AFRICANSFirst Innings.
	Hopley 12 0 33 2 Keigwin 12 1 49 3 McDonell 18 4 59 1 May 18 1 61 4
S-	McDenell 10 4 50 1 Neigwin 12 1 49 5
in	MCDDHell 10 4 59 1 1 May 10 1 01 4
's	Mann 7 0 25 1 Roberts 6 1 20 1 May 14 0 74 1 Hopley 16 4 32 1
	Mann 7 0 25 1 Roberts 6 1 20 1
n.	May 14 0 74 1 Hopley 15 4 32 1
	MCDonell 28,5 4 84 6
	Mann bowled one wide, and May one wide and one no ball.
	CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY.—First Innings.
	Sinclair 14 2 45 4 Middleton 9.5 2 46 3 Kotze 18 6 52 3 Snooke 2 0 9 0
	Kotze 18 6 52 3 Snooke 2 0 9 0
	White 3 0 25 0
33	Kotze bowled one no-ball,

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY

YESTERDAY'S CENTURIES.

Batsmen.	Total	1	Best	hits.
C. J. B. Wood	110		10	4's
Knight	140		15	4's
Tyldesley	210	4 6's.	31	4's
Hon, F. S. Jackson	158
Seymour ,	136*		19	4's
Rhodes	107		16	4's
F. Mitchell			7	4's
Quaife	178*
* Not out.

TRIALS AT NEWMARKET.

G. Dawson's Cock of the Roost (Plant) beat Kroon-stad (Halsey), Firmilian (W. Lane), and Gower over two miles. Won by half a length; a bad third.

Jarvis's Cades (F. Wood) beat Spinning Minnow (Halsey) over seven furlongs and a half. Won by half

Lerd Howard de Walden's Zinfandel, with a view to himportant engagement in the Ascet Gold Cup, wa give more and the Ascet Gold Cup, wa give more and the second of the second of the market vesterday morning, Kinbrace and Bird of Free dom coll going the first mile and a half with him, Water thed bringing the colt along the last mile and a quarter

LATEST SCRATCHINGS.

Royal Hunt Cup, Ascot.—Cerisier (at 9 a.m. Tuesday). All published handicaps and Ford Manor Plate, Ling-ld.—Wood Pigeon. All engagements.—Charmus.

DEATH OF MR. B. S. COOPER.

There was no man better known professionally in the racing world than Mr. B. S. Cooper, and his sudden death yesterday morning caused a feeling of profound regret in racing circles. Mr. Cooper died of heart failure, and its suddenness—he had been apparently well at the clubs in the settling on Monday over St. Amant's Derby—intensified the shock.

Mr. Cooper was one of the foremost in the ring. He, owned a large number of horses, some trained at Holt's place at Eponom, others at C. Brown's at Melton Mowbray. He was, one of the biggest bettors, and in private life, thanks to his philanthropic efforts and absolutely charitable heart, there will be many outside the wide area in which he figured professionally, to regret his loss.

LAWN TENNIS.

LAWN TENNIS.

The Kent championship meeting was continued at Beckenham yesterday, before a large company. Results: round: T. H. Oyler w.o., C. W. Farmar scratched; H. S. Mahony beat E. Gwynne Evans (4-6, 8-6, 6-3); E. H. Kitchen w.o., F. E. Pallas scratched; A. W. Gore beat "E. Stallay "Ge-1, 6-1); H. N. Marrett beat E. Beat "E. Stallay "Ge-1, 6-1); H. N. Marrett beat E. Gental "Gental" of the control of the

SPORTING NEWS ITEMS.

The Cambridge University Boat Club have elected Mr. H. Sanger as their president, and Mr. B. C. Johnstone as secretary.

Several discrepancies appeared in the official card at Lincoln yesterday, the I ay filly figuring as "Donovan Tay." Mentor as "Mention," and 5t. Ivel as "Stivel." Seconour, by corring 100 in each innings of the Kent rare in first-class cricket, although on the perfect wickers of to-day it is more frequent than when W. G. Grace scored two conturies for the South of the Thannes against the North at Canterbury in 1868.

In order that the Ascot card may not be unnecessarily large, Messrs. Weatherby have requested owners and trainers to strike out those horses which are certain the intention of the executive to have printed on the cards the pedigrees of all horses.

The first ties of the Pole Handicap Tournament, pro-moted by London Polo Club, were played as the Crystal Falice yesterday. Attogether four teams have ourered, ing game throughout. B team eventually won by 7 goals to 2. Mr. Burge and Mr. Wood played splendidly for the D team.

Small Advertisements are received at the offices of the "Daily Mirror," 45 and 46, New Bond Street, W., and 2, Carmelite Street, E.C., between the hours of 10 and 5 (Saturdays, 10 to 2), for insertion in the issue of the following day, at the rate of 12 words 1/- Idd, each word alterwards). Advertisements, if sent by post, must be accompanied by Postal Orders crossed Barclay and Co. (stamps will not be accopted).

"Daily Mirror" advertisers can have replies

"Daily, Mirror" advertisers can have replies to their advertisements seat free of charge to the "Daily Mirror" Offices, a box department having been opened for that purpose. If replies are to be forwarded, sufficient stamps to cover postage must be sent with the advertisement.

SITUATIONS WANTED.

UPHOLSTERER (experienced) wants occasional work references.—H. W., 153, Petherton-rd, Canonbury, N.

SITUATIONS VACANT.

Domestic.

BETWEEN-MAID wanted at once; tall; must have had some experience; wages £14.£16.—Write Y. B., Bondetreet Bureau, 45, New Bond-st. W.

COOK (good, plain) wanted, for one lady, in town; wages £24 to £30; very quiet place.—Call to-day and to-morrow, Mrs. B., 45, New Bond-st, W.

COOK-GENERAL wanted, for one lady, in town; wages £20.£22; age 20.30.—Apply to-day and to-morrow, Mrs. 45. New Bond-st, W.

GENERAL Servant (good) wanted; age 25-30; wages E18-22; 3 in family; comfortable home.—Mrs. W. Kheimah, Southdown-rd, Wimbledon.

HOUSE-PARLOURMAIDS wanted.—Please call on Thursday and morning at 11 octock to see 3 ladies requiring House-parlourmaids; wages £20-£24,—45, New Bond-st, W.

KITCHENMAID wanted at once, for the country; single handed; 7 servants kept; no baking or dairy; wage £18. £20.—Call, Wednesday, at 3, to see lady, 45, New Bond NURSE (children's) wanted at once, for flat in town; good needlewoman; age 25-35; wages £24-£30.—Write Y. N. Bond-street Bureau, 45, New Bond-st, W. NURSERY Governess wanted; 1 little girl; comfortable home.-45, Highfield-rd, Doncaster.

A GENTS wanted.—Ink Erasing Electrocine Pencil; erases ink in 2 seconds without abrasion; one agent's profits, weeks, over $75,—Address Eraser, 51, Moreley-rd, Don-

MEN and Women wanted to work our rapid Knitting Machines at their homes, making work for us to sell to the trade; no experience, no canvassing; steady words good money carred; distance no hindranes, the Hardy Machine and Woollen Company, 62, Market-st, Manchester.

planchesier.

MORE Money is what most people want, and, hundreds could obtain it by using their spare time, and results are liberally paid for; no samples to buy or carry; no nik; particulars free on inquiry, alone ZZ, 1431. Bully particulars free on inquiry, alone ZZ, 1431. Bully Vocation of the property of the prop PER WEEK easily earned by advertisement writers prospectus free.—Page-Davis Advertising School 109), 195, Oxford-st. London, W.

PARTNERSHIPS AND FINANCIAL.

A. A. "How Money Makes Money,"—Post free to all with Ed capilal upon the Ed capilal up

A PATENT for an invention.—Previsional patent, 62
A American patent application, 65 flox, estimates, first and form post froe, 7. P. Bayly, Registers Patent Agent (estab. 1870), 18, Fulham-place, Paddingson
London, W.

INDUSTRIAL General Agency, Ltd., Room 344, 11, Queen Victoria-st, buys and sells shares; finances businesses; promotes companies; undertakes all kinds of agency business.—Write Secretary.

OANS.-£10 üpwards; householders, tradesmen, etc. repay by post.-Bridge, Broadway, Woking.

£25 and upwards; repayable monthly, by post.

PARTNER to take out American patent; to invest in manufacture English patent; grosses ready.-7, Edward-st. Aldershot.

EDUCATIONAL.

CHATHAM HOUSE COLLEGE, Ramsgate.—Founded 94

Appara.—High-class school for the sons of gentlemen;
to pears.—High-class school for the sons of gentlemen; to the sist VR.E.K.R. ("The Buffe I"; quincir school for boys under 15; 48-page illustrated prospectus sent on application to the Hestinskin of the

PETS, LIVE STOCK, AND VEHICLES.

PRETTY For Torrier Bitch and 3 Pups, from 5s. White, 67, 8t. Mark's of Konnington Perk.

Joseph St. Bedelyfferd, Upton Perk.

PLENDID Collie Pups for sale; healthy; able and white; 2 months -48, Union-rd, Clapham-rd, S.W.

MOTORS AND CYCLES.

CYCLES.—Build your own in spare time from parts supplied by Whitehead and Co., Old Fletton, Peterborough. TANDEM (2 gent's), good condition; 55s.; room wanted BUSINESSES FOR SALE & WANTED.

BEER Houses and Off-Licences.—Choice of a very nice selection in town and suburbs; adapted for good business parties with from £100 cash upwards.—Details of Biggs and Co. 304 Vauxhall Bridge-rd (Victoria Station), and 85, Chiswell-st, E.C.

Daily Bargains.

NOTICE. — When replying to advertisements addressed to the "Daily Mirror" Office acremittance should be enclosed in the first instance.

A COSTUME to measure, 42s.—Marsh, Tailors, 47, Whitombst, Piccadilly-circus.

A FREE dainty sample Handkerchief, with illustrated lands.

London.

London.

A Tailor-made Skirks, correct fit, latest styles, beautiful colonis, coloni

BABY'S LONG CLOTHES, complete set, 50 articles, very choice, unused; 21s.; approval.—Mrs. Max, The Chase,

FUR Necklet for summer wear; rich real Russian sable hair, only 5s. 6d.; approval.—Maud, 6, Grafton-sq Chapham.

Chapha

age, 3d. extra, patierns and catalogue free.—Baker Booby and Co., No. 28 Warehouse, Voluntary-Jose, Wantesed, and Co., No. 28 Warehouse, Voluntary-Jose, Wantesed, John Co., No. 28 Warehouse, Voluntary-Jose, Wantesed, Company, Voluntary-Jose, Wantesed, Company, Voluntary-Jose, Wantesed, Company, Voluntary-Joseph Company, Voluntary-Joseph Company, Carlo Company, Carlo Company, Carlo Carlo Miscollancous.

A BAROAIN.—Shaffield table Cultery: 5-guines service: Tal table, 12 desert knives, pair cavers and steel; cayford vory balanced handles; uncolled; accept 108, 94; approval.—Mrs. H., 68, Stockwell-rd. S.W.

A DECIDED Bargain.—Strong Striped Hemp Hearthruge; particular control of tringed, 72in., by 65in.; 2 for 5s, carriage particular control of the particular contr bury-n, London.

O Italian Coloured Ministures from any photograph,
O Italian Coloured Ministures from any photograph,
O Italian Coloured Ministures from any photograph,
O Chapman, Artist, Pontypriding
O Chapman, Artist, Pontypriding
O Coloured Coloured Coloured Coloured Coloured
O Coloured Coloured

DAILY BARGAINS.

RNITURE.—Rich Saddlebag Suite, solid frames, large handsome carpet, rug, handsome table, and vases; only 10s., or easy terms; see these.—Hine, 97, Wiesbaden-rd, a Nawington.

RANDFATHER'S Ancient Hall Clock, in carved oa case, with tower top; brass works; striking ever arter; handsome early English; 200 years old; in perfet secryation; accurate timekeeper; £4.—Particulars, Reeve Stephen's, Norwich.

Stephen S, Norwich.

ADVSMAID between timescaper; Ea-Particulars, Reeves, Et. Stephen S, Norwich.

ADVSMAID between the Stephen S, S

OVERNAYTELS, manufacturer's stock gilded; Adam's, inlaid Sheratons; oak toliet glasses; must be cleared; large discount.—45, Warrenet cound floor, European Cose to Forthandr'd Station (second floor), European Cose to Forthandr'd Station; second floor, European Cose to Forthandr'd Station; second floor, European Cose to Forthandr'd Station, and the commonated Cosmic; all on suite; lady will see above to 53s. 64; worth 27; unsolied; approval.—H. E., 2. Claybudderd, S.W.

PICTORIAL Postcards, 4½d. dozen; sample free.—Percy Davey, 53, Embankment-rd, Plymouth.

PRESENTATION 28 8s. silver-plated Queen Anne Tea and Coffee Service; ebony handles to tea and coffee; gold-gilt lined sugar and cream; finest quality; unused; sacrifice, 52s. 6d.; approval.—Mrs. Wilson, 29. Holland-st.

READING Cases (useful and handsome); will hold six copies of the Daily Mirror; is. each, post free is. 3d.—Postal orders to 2, Carmelite.st, London, E.C.

CPOONS and Forks; weeding gift; At quality; silverplated on nickel silver; handsome service; 12 each table and dessert Spoons and Forks, also Teaspoon (O picces); list price £6 19s. 6d.; accept 35s.; half quantity 18s.; approval—Mrs. Roberts. 2. Glosphatherd; 3.W.

WAKE UP EARLY, ALARM WATCHES ring any hour, splendid time-keepers; 10s. 6d., c. p.—Dan Bailey, Salisbury House, London.

9D. will buy 3s. 6d. worth of artistic Pictore Postcards; sent free.—Publisher. 6, Grafton-st. Glapham.
6/9 PURCHASES Gent.'s Chronograph Stop-Watch, 18-cards goldcased, with double 18-cart goldcased, with double 18-cart goldcased, which double 18-cart goldcased, worth 42s.—B. A. 88, Stockwalled, 3M.

albert, Greeian seal attached; worth 42a.—B. A., 68, Stockwell-rd, S.W.

DAVIS, PAWNBROKER.—GREAT CLEARANCE SALE.

FULL TISP POST PREE ON APPLICATION.

8/6. Ladys 18-carat Gold-cased Keyless Watch,

Worth Government of the Control of the Control

O DAVIS, PAWNBROKER,
26, DENMARK-HILL, LONDON,
GREAT CLEARANCE SALE.—FULL, LIST POST FREE
9/6. GENT'S MAGNIFICENT 16-CARAT GOLDjewelled movement, perfect timekeeper, 10 years written warranty; alo 16-carat gold (stamped) filled double Curb Albert, Seal attached, guaranteed 15 years wear, payment, the together, scaringe 3b, 6d, Approval before payment.

LADY'S HANDSOME 18-CARAT GOLD-CASED KEYLESS WATCH, jewelled movement. 194. CASED KEYLLESS WAYCH, jewelled movement, sexet timekeper, 10 years warranty, also fashionable long watch Guard, 18-carat, gold (stamped), filled, elegant West End design, Two together, sacrifice, 7s. 9d., worth £2 Sz. Approval before payment.

19/6. LASY S. 65. S. SOLID GOLD (stamped) KEY-graved case, plendid timekeper, 10 years warranty, week.

19/6. This worth possion 10 white stelly extraved case, peeledd timeleven; 10 years warranty, weeks trial. Sacrifice 19s. 6d.

19/6. HANDBOME 56. SERVICE SHEEPIELD II/6. HANDBOME 56. SERVICE SHEEPIELD II/6. HANDBOME 56. SERVICE SHEEPIELD II/6. HANDBOME 10 the stell of the stell

Wanted to Purchase.

Wanted to Purchase.

An Old Collection of Postage Stamps wanted.—Write, German's Hall, near King* Lymicalars, to Collector, St. Girman's Hall, near King* Lymicalars, to Collector, St. Wild! Lymicalars, to Collector, St. Wild! Communicate with the Kennington Dress Agency, 56, Hammersmith-rd, Kensington, W?

HOLIDAY APARTMENTS TO LET AND WANTED.

BRIGHTON. - Johannesburg Boarding Establishment Grand Parade. - Moderate charges; thoroughly comfort

GREAT YARMOUTH.—Garibaldi Hotel, for gentlemen; moderate terms; liberal table.—Powell, Proprietor. RAMSGATE.—Bed-sitting rooms, 10s.; also board-resi-dence; near sea.—Miss Brockman, Mill Cottages, West

RHYL, N. WALES—Pleasant and Comfortable Boarding House; three minutes from sea; lovely mountain air
Ladies 25s., Gentlemen 30s.; highly recommended.—4 H. House; three minutes from sea; lovely mountain air; Ladiez 25s, Gentienen 30s,; highly recommended.—4, Butts-ton-rd. ROMS; comfortable, pleasant, high, healthy situation, near station.—Miss Laird, Elsenham, Essex.

TUBERCULAR Cases received at farmhouse in Norfolk, moderate terms.—Apply Nurse, 1222, "Daily Mirror,"

STAY AT CASTLE HOTEL.

BRIGHTON HOLIDAYS—MODERATE CHARGES—
DASTLE HOTEL, Middle-street, BRIGHTON.—Bestposition in Brighton, close to the sea, between Westfrom 4s. 6d., or 7s. 6d. per day full board, Saturday to Monday, 12a, 6d., or 55. per week; one minute from sea, and between the two piers; good coffeeroom and shoon har.—Write to secure rooms to Proprietress, Castle Hotel, Brighton.

BOARD RESIDENCE & APARTMENTS.

HAMPSTEAD HEATH.-Bright, comfortable apartment healthy resort.-8, Hermitage-villas, Hermitage-lane

GARDENING.

M ONSTER Fuchsias, flowers measure Jin. across; phenomenal double blue; Duchess of Edinboro double white; 2 strong plants of each, 1s. 3d.; free.—W. Hockley, Upton Manor, Essex.

MISCELLANEOUS.

A BEAUTIFUL SINGER you can post through possessing my secrets; wonderfu store, Stofe Newrigton, London, N. Illustrated list, Id. stamp.

ARE YOUR SHIFTS AND COLLARS WEIL DRESSED!

ARE YOUR SHIFTS AND COLLARS WEIL DRESSED!

ARE THOM, post them to Thompson's Model Laundry, Margravellista Culterb by Zematone.—Write for free trial

box to Cornord, 4, Liopyde-aw, London,

AUTHORS MSS. WANTED.—Stories, Articles, Novels

cornocade, revised, typewritten, ready for publication, with advice where sell however, its., Johns Wood.

BEAUTIFUL EYES.—If you desire that bright, limple papparance so much admired use liene; absolutely harmless; specialists report and testimonials with each contact of the product of the contact of the contact ibidite. post free 2a. 94.—Hene: (Registered), 19, 8t. Dunstan'shill, London.

CHEAP TICKET WRITING; send orders to practical writers.—499, Kingalandrd, London, N.E.

CONSULT Mille. Beatries, the highly-recommended; hours. 110? Smints and Glairvoyan, at 106, Regulate Nous. 110?

COURT Dreasmaker; highly recommended; French experience; prefet style, fit; exquisate work; prices acceptionally advantageous; modes.—Write 1577, Dalfy Mirror.

D'ADRYN TERTH FOR LADIES,—We are Artists in experience of the control of th ment.

MADAME BERNHARDT, Claircoante Palmis, Grastil,
MADAME BERNHARDT, Claircoante Palmis, Grastil,
Manuel Marchael, Marchael, Marchael, Marchael Marchael, Marchael,
Court Circular ', hours, 12 till 6; from 5s. –5sa, Naw Oxfords, Flat 2.9; W.C. opposite Bloomsburyst.

MARVEL Eyelash Oll; only 1s.—Mrs, Seymour, 124, New Bondett, V.

OLD Artificial Teeth bought; call or forward by post; full value per return, or offer made.—Messrs. M. Browning, Manufacturing Dentists, 133, Oxford-st, London (Estab. 100 vessus). PALMISTRY; 6, Harrow-rd, Edgware-rd; 2 till 9; accu-rate: clerer, gifted; vide Press.

Tate; clever, gitted; vide Press.

DEPLATE your Bicycle Handlebar; Herberts' Plating Solution, 1s. 5d., carriage paid; Gem Bicycle Replating Outfit, 2s. 6d., complete.—Herberts' Plating Department, Urmston, Lancashire.

RINGWORM Permanently Cured; use Porter's Specific; To for child, youth, adult; 1s, 3d, and 2s, 9d, bottle, post free in plain package.—Porter and Co., Ely, Cambs. SIX times too much coal burned.—Write Sugar Honse SIMILS Company, Stratford.

TEETH to anit the face and pocket at Mr. Hanreck's, 43, 1 Bishopsgate-st Within, E.C.; principal personally attends all patients; country patients fitted in one visit; all WIBUSES for another the state of the stat work guaranteed. Note-Billioppage Within.

PRUSSES for working men, giving aboults confort, from 2s, 6d.; no quagherry, expert's advice free.—Field, 21, Atingdon-d's, Kensington, London.

TRY Vita's Crystals for Crystal Garing; boat free, with instructions, 5s, 7s, 6d., Yords, 5s; 6d.—Vita, Palmiste, 135, Oxforded135, Oxforded135, Oxforded136, Oxforded136, Oxforded137, Oxforded138, Oxforded138

Advertisements under the headings:

Marketing By Post. Houses and Properties. Musical Instruments.

Appear on page 2.

Printed and Published by THE PICTORIAL NEWSPAPER Co.
LTD., at 2, Carmelite-street, E.C.—Wednesday, June 8

"DAILY MIRROR" SMALL ADVERTISEMENT FORM.

Small Advertisements written on this Form will be accepted at the Offices of the Daily Mirror, 45 and 46, New Bond Street, W., or 2, Carmelite Street, E.C. (one minute from Blackfriars Bridge), for insertion in the Daily Mirror, at the rate of 12 words 1/- (minimum), 1d. per word afterwards. (Name and Address must be paid for.)

If sent by post, the Order Form must be accompanied by postal orders (not stamps) crossed Barclay & Co.

Territoria de		